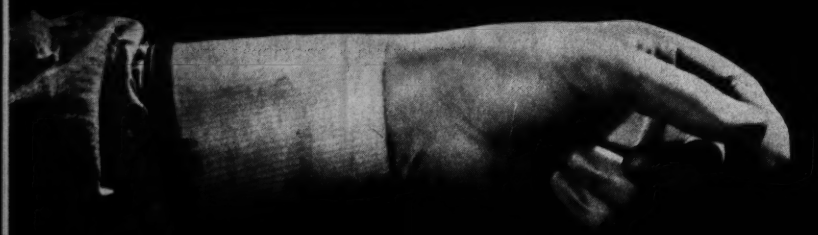
NOW...FOR A COMPLETE RANGE OF SURGICAL PREFERENCES

WILSON BROWN MILLED SURGEONS' GLOVES

Manufactured through a process that permits a thin, sensitive product—WILSON BROWN MILLED gloves meet all normal service requirements in withstanding tension and sterilization. Available in color-banded wrist style.



WILSON BROWN LATEX SURGEONS' GLOVES

Made from natural latex rubber with quality rigidly controlled throughout manufacture—exactly the same as the white latex in design. Available with curved fingers in both color-banded and rolled-wrist styles.

WILSON WHITE LATEX SURGEONS' GLOVES

Made from pure white latex in a controlled single-dip process for the thinnest gloves compatible with strength and long wear. Naturally curved fingers insure freedom from binding, strain and operating fatigue. Now available in color-banded or rolled-wrist style, in both regular and ready-for-the-sterilizer RAPAK units.

Every Wilson latex surgeons' glove is pre-powdered with Bio-Sorb™ Dusting Powder.

The 1960 Directory

THIS IS THE 31ST ANNUAL EDITION OF THE DIRECTORY of Catholic Hospitals, Schools of Nursing and related health services in the United States and Canada; as such, this reference volume contains data concerning the status of this field of social welfare for the year 1959.

The pattern of this report follows that of previous years with sections devoted to hospitals and health services, nursing education, the paramedical fields, the religious groups responsible for these various institutions and agencies, both governmental and professional, concerned with hospital services.

Part I is devoted to a listing of facilities and services of Catholic Hospital and Health Agencies.

Part II, Nursing Education Facilities, is a report for 1959 on the progress of basic degree and diploma programs in Nursing Education for Canada and the United States. Trends in admissions, both for basic degree and diploma programs are included in this year's report. Similar data are included for graduates. As 1959 marks 10 years of national accreditation in the United States, special attention is given to the increase in numbers of accredited Catholic schools. Since Nursing Education activity under Catholic auspices represents approximately one-third of the national field, developments in this sector are relatively very significant. Special sections of the report deal with practical nursing programs and with educational programs for graduate nurses.

Part III, devoted to educational programs, lists Catholic hospitals and other institutions offering programs which prepare personnel for the paramedical fields. In the nine areas in which this educational activity is developed hospitals contribute substantially to supplying staff members, technical and other specially prepared workers.

Part IV lists all "Religious Organizations Engaged in Hospital Activities and Nursing Education." Included in the listing are the hospitals and agencies operated by each. This is most helpful to many readers who seek information concerning a particular mission of a certain group of Religious.

Appendix A classifies "Professional and Governmental Agencies in Hospital Service"; these agencies, each concerned with some phase of hospital or education at one level or another, are compiled to afford the administrator a convenient and ready reference source of general information.

Special features of this Directory include three manuscripts, two of which have been taken from the proceedings of the second series of conferences for Higher Superiors of religious engaged in hospital work. These are Father James I. O'Connor's discussion of "The Hospital in Canon Law" and Sister M. Augustine's paper on "Decision—PR—and Your Community."

A third feature has been adapted from an excellent essay presented to St. Louis University in partial fulfillment for a Master's Degree in Hospital Administration. The author is Sister Jean Marie Braun, S.C.S.C., whose work will be of special interest and value to those engaged in nursing service in hospitals.

Again, the editors and compilers of this Directory express their appreciation and gratitude to the many Sisters, Brothers and others who assisted by coöperating so generously in supplying these data. Their contribution is the significant factor in this year's report, as in previous years. ★

CONFERENCE OF CATHOLIC SCHOOLS OF NURSING

New Hospitals, 1959

IN COMPILING the annual report of this aspect of Catholic hospital development, we have listed only the new Catholic hospitals completed or shortly to be completed. Not listed here is the increase of bed facilities added to existing buildings nor is reference made to the many projects in various stages of development.

This year's list of new Catholic hospitals and allied agencies numbers eight in the United States—totaling 872 beds.

The Little Company of Mary Hospital at Torrance, California, was dedicated on December 12, 1959. It is the sixth in the United States under the operation of the Little Company of Mary Nursing Sisters and the first to be established west of Chicago. The 150-bed hospital is designed to serve 19 neighboring communities and features extensive medical and surgical facilities as well as 24-hour emergency service for all accident and injury patients.

The Franciscan Sisters of Perpetual Adoration of LaCrosse, Wisconsin, have opened Lost Rivers Hospital in Arco, Idaho. Sister M. Muriel has been named administrator of this 10-bed institution.

Soon to be opened by the Hospitaller Brothers of St. John of God is a 25-bed chronic hospital in Brookline, Massachusetts. The allied agency will be under the administration of Brother Michael Severin.

Sister Mary Columbine, a graduate of the St. Louis University course in Hospital Administration, has been named administrator of the St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, Michigan. The 180-bed general hospital, opened by the Felician Sisters of St. Francis on December 8, 1959 will provide both occupational therapy and physical therapy services as well as a blood bank for the community.

A new allied agency in Albany, New York, has been opened by the Sisters of the Third Order Regular of St. Francis. Villa Mary Immaculate Convalescent Hospital has accommodations in private and semi-private rooms for 90 patients. A large area of the building is equipped to provide physical therapy treatment. Whirlpool, diathermy, parallel bars, hydrocollator, paraffin bath and shoulder wheel have been installed. Mother Miriam Regina is the administrator.

Long Island's newest voluntary hospital—the 175-bed Good Samaritan Hospital in West Islip—was dedicated on May 2, 1959. The hospital, operated by the Daughters of Wisdom, has four special nursing units—for cardiac, orthopedic, pediatric and poliomyelitis service. Mother Mary of the Divine Wisdom was appointed administrator.

The Daughters of the Most Holy Redeemer have opened a 216-bed general hospital in Meadowbrook, Pennsylvania. Holy Redeemer Hospital, Inc. is under the administration of Roland D. Olen. Its modern facilities include a 20-bed pediatric unit, outpatient services and a heart clinic.

The Servants of Mary staff the new St. Mary's Kewaunee Area Memorial Hospital in Kewaunee, Wisconsin, with Sister Mary John as administrator. After three years of planning, the 26-bed hospital was dedicated on May 17, 1959 and features an outpatient clinic as well as orthopedic and pediatric services.

DIRECTORY OF REGIONAL CONFERENCES OF CATHOLIC HOSPITALS

INTRODUCTION

As early as 1922, most of the provinces of Canada and a substantial part of the United States were organized locally, as a means of stimulating improvement in Catholic hospital services. This activity has continued since—influenced significantly, it is true, by such general factors as the depression of 1929 and the thirties, World War II and the recovery period.

At this time there are 49 Conferences of Catholic hospitals: Nine in Canada, which is fully organized, and 40 in the United States (found in 45 states or sections of these states). Included in these Conferences are about 85 per cent of the Catholic hospitals in the United States. In the four states in which as yet there is no organized state-wide Catholic hospital activity, there may be occasional meetings of hospital Religious on a local basis.

The form of organization of these Conferences varies both geographically—diocesan, state or province, and regionally, i.e., more than one state or province; and structurally—most having constitutions and bylaws, while a few function informally. In the vast majority, the Religious serve actively as officers with a Bishop's Representative as spiritual director. About eight of the Conferences publish bulletins periodically.

The listing below follows a geographical sequence, rather than an alphabetical one, both on a national basis and within each region.

THE CATHOLIC HOSPITALS

of the United States and Canada

Arrangement of the Directory

THE 1960 edition follows the styling of previous editions in its method of presentation of the state or province, of the individual hospital or agency. Arranged with three columns to the page, the Directory provides for listing each hospital vertically as a self-contained unit. Two groupings within each state and province are recognized—one for Hospitals and the other for Allied Agencies. Alphabetical order is used throughout Tables II and III.

In classifying institutions as hospitals the criteria used by the American Hospital Association for "listing" hospitals has been followed. We have listed as allied agencies institutions which provide some health care but do not meet the criteria for hospitals.

Symbols for Professional and Educational Status

To supply as much information as possible and at the same time to conserve space, the compilers have employed the following symbols:

Joint Commission for Hospital Accreditation Ratings:

▲ Fully Approved

Internship Approval:

★ American Medical Association (for United States)

★ Canadian Medical Association (for Canada)

Approval for Residency or Fellowship in a Specialty:

+ American Medical Association (for United States)

+ Canadian Medical Association (for Canada)

Teaching Hospital—affiliated with a Medical School:

□ With a footnote placed at the end of the column stating the name of the medical school

◇ Hospital School of Nursing

◆ Hospital School of Practical Nursing

● Affiliated with a Collegiate School of Basic Nursing

Miscellaneous Code Letters, Symbols, etc.

To indicate certain qualifying conditions, the compilers have in addition used the following:

◀ Ownership of the hospital where Sisters only operate it

N.B. This symbol is placed before the name of the hospital; a footnote at the end of column records the name of the owning group, whereas the code number following the name of the hospital designates the religious group responsible for its operation.

Directory Arrangement

THE Directory of nursing education activities under Catholic auspices is divided into three sections:

I —Basic Nurse Education
- A. United States and Territories
- B. Canada

II —Practical Nurse Education
- A. United States and Territories
- B. Canada

III—Graduate Nurse Education
- A. United States
- B. Canada

Abbreviations for the diocese and the Religious Order numbers which appear in the entries are the same as those used for the Hospital Directory. Other symbols used in the Nursing Education Directory include:

General Education Accrediting Agencies (United States only):

C Accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

M Accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

N Accredited by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

P Accredited by the Western College Association.

S Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

W Accredited by the Northwestern Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.

Professional Accreditation (United States only):

♦ Full accreditation by the National League for Nursing.

♦ P.H. Program approved as preparing for beginning positions in Public Health Nursing.

⊙ Listed by the National League for Nursing as "action deferred pending re-survey."

Practical Nurse Program Approvals:

◀ Practical Nurse Program approved by the National Association for Practical Nurse Education.

◁ Practical Nurse Program tentatively accredited by the National Association for Practical Nurse Education

⊙ Practical Nurse Program approved by the state approving authority. In Canadian entries, this symbol indicates approval by the Provincial approving authority.

○ Practical Nurse Program tentatively approved by the state approving authority. In Canadian entries, this symbol indicates tentative approval by the Provincial approving authority.

Enrollment:

E^1 Religious Students Enrolled.
E^2 Negro Students Enrolled.
E^3 Male Students Enrolled.

Catholic Schools of Nursing

A Decade in Review

■ 1959. THIS WAS THE YEAR St. Francis School of Nursing, Honolulu, Hawaii moved from the "territories" classification to the roll of the States (to save space on the "Facts" sheet insert, Puerto Rico has been included in the state total, also). Alaska made the third state in which there is no Catholic school of nursing; it took some practice to change, "there are Catholic schools of nursing in 46 of the 48 states and the District of Columbia" to "47 of the 50 and D.C."

■ 1959. CONGRESS EXTENDED the traineeship program for five years and made funds available for short term preparation for nursing service administration and specialty fields. The District of Columbia, the only jurisdiction without provision for practical nurse licensure, saw its legislative proposal succeed in one House and hoped for the future.

■ 1959. SOME SCHOOLS of nursing in Texas, including one Catholic school, began a 21 months' program requiring one year of college for admission. The Illinois Hospital Association published a report of its study of costs of hospital schools of nursing in the state, which found that maintenance of students represents 49.3 per cent of the total cost of a school of nursing. Gwynedd Mercy Junior College, Gwynedd Valley, Pa., established the first associate degree program in a Catholic institution (and the only one to date, although two junior colleges have previously granted A.A. degrees on completion of a diploma program). A new basic degree program was added to the Directory — Marillac College, Normandy, Mo., a college for Sisters conducted by the Daughters of Charity of the Western Province. Reorganization of nursing education activities by religious orders brought back to the Directory institutions which have not existed as separate schools for several years: Seton, Colorado Springs, St. John's, Salina and St. Joseph's, Concordia, Kans.; and Mercy, Jackson, Mich. A new school was established by the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis (Millvale, Pa.) at St. Francis Hospital, Columbus, Ga.

Three hospital schools closed and two were lost through transfer of the hospital to other control. Three colleges discontinued basic degree programs with 1959 graduations.

Reports of schools of practical nursing recently or soon to be established under hospital control were so frequent that it was impossible to get complete information for this Directory.

■ 1959. THE END OF A DECADE. As the year was drawing to a close, newscasters spoke of the "fabulous fifties," justifying this apt and alliterative caption by a review of accomplishments in jet and space travel. For nursing education it was a decade of challenge and change, when the comfortable "patterns" were questioned, when schools struggled to plan curricula which would serve simultaneously the needs of the nation for nurses, the best interest of students and organized nursing's bid for recognition as a true profession. Self study, evaluation, criteria, these words took on real meaning for faculties in this decade as national accreditation became firmly established, with 1959 marking 10 full years of experience with a single accrediting agency for professional schools of nursing. Temporary accreditation, the five-year program designed to stimulate school improvement, and the subsequent two years of "provisional accreditation," an extension of time for schools which seemed near the goal of accreditation, these terms belonged to the past. Beginning with 1960, a school would be N.L.N. accredited or deferred pending resurvey or not accredited, and the deferred listing would cease to exist in 1962.

Evidence of the way in which Catholic schools of nursing have reacted to the challenge and change of the 1950's and to national accreditation is available in a review of past issues of the Hospital Progress Directory, particularly in a comparison of the 1950 Directory with the data compiled for the 1960 issue.

When the first list was published in 1949 of schools accredited by the National Nursing Accrediting Service, there were 352 Catholic schools of nursing in the United States and Hawaii offering 363 programs, with a total enrollment of 31,153 students. In the Fall of 1959, 10 years later, there are 323 schools offering 326 programs with a total of 34,312 students enrolled (Table 2). The net loss of 29 schools results from 81 state-accredited schools which have ceased to exist in their original organization and 52 new schools which have been created. Diploma programs continue to be in the majority, despite a 3.5 per cent drop in their number and a simultaneous increase by 20 per cent for degree programs.

There are 8.3 per cent fewer Catholic schools of nursing in 1959 than existed in 1949, but total enrollment has risen 10.1 per cent (Table 2). Only college diploma programs show a lower enrollment. This has been offset by larger enrollment in other diploma programs. Basic degree programs alone have gained both in number and in student population, contributing 12.5 per cent of all students reported in 1959, a 99 per cent increase over basic degree enrollment in 1949. That these have been gradual developments is evident from Table 3 which presents the number of schools, total enrollment, average enrollment per school and percentage of students in basic degree programs annually from Fall, 1949 to and including Fall, 1959.

Comparison of admissions and graduates reported by Catholic schools of nursing in these two years reveal similar trends. The large percentage increase in graduates shown in Table 2 results from the fact that graduates in 1949 were fewer than usual in all schools of nursing, due to low admissions in 1946.

1949 data reported 12 central schools, including one with an enrollment of over 600 students. In 1959, two central schools remain. Only one of the five college diploma programs listed in Table 2 admitted students in 1959 and three colleges have students enrolled in both degree and diploma programs, as compared with 11 in 1949. The category, associate degree program, appears for the first time in 1959.

The number of Negro students enrolled has risen from 263 to 397, despite the loss of the one school with an all Negro enrollment which existed 10 years ago. Two schools for men students exclusively existed in 1949, when 247 men were enrolled in all Catholic schools; this year, with but one school for men students, a total enrollment of 312 men is reported. The number of religious enrolled has risen from 664 to 752. In 1949 approximately 89 per cent of enrolled religious were reported by diploma programs and 11 per cent by basic degree programs. Currently 31.8 per cent are enrolled in degree programs.

With fewer schools and larger total enrollment, some increase in the size of the average school is to be expected. In 1949, nearly one-fourth of the schools reported less than 50 students; currently 8.3 per cent of the schools are in this category. Schools with enrollment totaling 100-199 students are 31 per cent of the total as compared with 25.5 per cent 10 years ago (Figure 1).

A significant change has occurred in admissions practices in the past 10 years. Not only are schools admitting more students per year, but the practice of admitting more than one class per year has almost gone out of existence. Figure 2 shows 38.1 per cent, or 131 schools, admitting less than 25 students in 1949. This included 111 hospital schools, of which 19 per cent admitted a total of less than 25 students in two classes. Of the hospital schools admitting 25-49 students in 1949, 38 per cent reported multiple classes as did 59 per cent of those admitting up to 74 students. Eighty-four per cent of the 25 hospital schools admitting more than 75 students reported at least two admission dates. In 1959, one school reported two classes admitted per year.

10 Years of National Accreditation

In 1949, members of the Conference of Catholic Schools of Nursing agreed to support the unification of accrediting programs in nursing. The initial list of accredited schools, published in October, 1949 in The American Journal of Nursing, included 34 Catholic schools of nursing—28 diploma schools and six basic degree schools, one of which was approved for both degree and diploma programs. Of these, 10 had been recommended by the C.C.S.N. from the accredited list published by The Catholic Hospital Association in 1943, 18 were recommended from the accredited lists of the N.L.N.E. and six were recommended by both organizations. When the 10th annual list of fully accredited schools was published by N.L.N. in February, 1960, 221 Catholic schools of nursing were included: 196 diploma schools, two colleges with both diploma and degree programs and 23 colleges for the basic degree program.

In the first five years of accreditation, a total of 48 Catholic schools of nursing received full approval and the 1955 accredited list included 78 Catholic schools. From the 1956 listing to and including 1960, three times as many schools have gained full N.L.N. approval. The bar graphs of Figure 3 show the rapid gains made during these past five years. In Table 4 the accredited status of Catholic schools of nursing is shown in five-year periods: 1950 (the original list), 1955 and 1960. Five schools, four of which were on the original list, have lost full accreditation but two of these were able to regain accredited status. Four fully accredited schools have closed during this period.

Additional information about the gains in accreditation is presented in Table 5, where the accredited schools in 1950, 1955 and 1960 are classified according to size or total enrollment. In 1950, 21.2 per cent of the accredited schools had fewer than 100 students enrolled and in only one of these was the enrollment less than 50. The average enrollment for 33 schools (one had no students) was 155 students. In 1955, the number of accredited schools with 50 to 99 students enrolled had increased, but the group represented only 19.2 per cent of the 78 fully accredited schools. In the current year, when the number of accredited schools in all size groups has increased, 12 schools, or 5.4 per cent, report enrollment of less than 50 students. Of these 12 schools, four have only partial enrollment. The remaining eight represent about one-third of all schools of this size (25) with all class years enrolled.

There are currently 131 schools with full enrollment between 50 and 99 students; 81 of these, or 62 per cent, are fully accredited. In 1960, schools of under 100 students make up 42.1 per cent of the fully accredited group as compared with 19.2 per cent in 1955 and 21.2 per cent in 1950. Further evidence of the approval of smaller schools in recent years is found in the lower average enrollment for accredited schools—123 students, as compared with an average of 166 in 1955 and 155 in 1950. It must be noted, however, that all but 12.5 per cent of schools with full enrollment of 100 or over are currently fully accredited. Of the 156 schools with full enrollment under 100, 59.6 per cent are fully accredited. The information found in Table 5 would seem to indicate that the small school can gain and maintain full accreditation but larger schools do so more readily.

Two types of accreditation are granted for basic degree programs—full accreditation and full accreditation as preparing for beginning positions in public health nursing. The N.L.N. Department of Baccalaureate and Higher Degree Programs has recommended that the approval for public health nursing be considered a requirement for accreditation in 1963. Twenty-five of the 42 Catholic institutions offering basic degree programs in nursing are N.L.N. accredited for the year 1960. Of these, 19 are approved for public health nursing preparation (Table 6). Over half of the 4,279 students enrolled in basic degree programs in 1959 are reported by schools accredited for beginning public health nursing (57.7 per cent). The single college which last year held provisional accreditation is now fully accredited. The 17 basic degree programs not yet nationally accredited, Accreditation of diploma programs for 1960 is described in Table 7. Twenty-eight schools are identified in this Table with deferred status. ferred" list will be carried by the accrediting service during 1960 and 1961. At the end of this period it is anticipated final action will have been taken on the schools listed in this category. There has been an increase in the number of non-accredited diploma programs from 39 in 1959 to 58 in 1960. Two of the schools included in the 1959 data have graduated their final class and are not included in Table 7. The five new diploma programs and 16 schools provisionally accredited last year but not on the deferred list for 1960 account for the increase. Of the 74 diploma programs identified last year as provisionally accredited, 29 have received approval for full accreditation, one program closed with 1959 graduates and, as mentioned above, 16 moved to the non-accredited category.

Basic Nursing Programs in Canada

Canadian Catholic schools of nursing, in decided contrast to those in the United States, seem to have undergone relatively little change in the past few years, at least so far as statistical data can suggest change or stability. National accreditation, which has stimulated much activity in schools in the United States, is not yet established in Canada, although 1959 shows the country much closer to a national program of accreditation with the pilot study conducted to test methods and criteria.

Since the 1950 Directory issue of HOSPITAL PROGRESS, 10 new schools of nursing have been opened in Catholic institutions in Canada. Only two institutions have been dropped from the listing of basic programs during this same period; one was an erroneous listing and one school closed. The number of Catholic schools of nursing in Canada is verified annually through communication with the Provincial Nurses' Associations, which serve Canadian schools in a capacity similar to state boards in the United States. Table 8 is a record of the number of Canadian Catholic schools from 1949 to 1959. Figures appearing in the enrollment column of Table 8 represent 100 per cent response in only five years. For this reason, the exact number of schools reporting students enrolled in each year is given, as well as the total schools in existence, and the average enrollment has been calculated on the basis of reporting schools. Data for 1959 represents 10 per cent more schools than existed in 1949 and a 44 per cent increase in the number of students enrolled.

Table 9 compares the size of reporting schools in 1949 and 1959. In 1949 28 schools, 38.3 per cent, reported less than 50 students. By 1959, all but 16 of these schools had moved into the group with 50-99 students enrolled. Nearly three times as many schools are found with over 200 students in 1959.

The 81 schools reporting in 1959 admitted 3,622 students, an average of 44 students per school. Schools reporting in 1949 averaged 36 students admitted per school (Table 10). One significant change in admissions is not shown in the Table. In the United States story it was pointed out that the practice of admitting two and three classes per year is vanishing. This trend is found in Canada, also, although to a lesser degree than in the United States. In 1949, 37.9 per cent of the 29 Canadian schools admitting less than 25 students reached that total by admitting more than one class. More than one class was admitted by 70 per cent of schools reporting 25-49 new students and only one school with 50 or more students entering used a single admission date. For 1949, 62.7 per cent of all reporting schools used two or more class admission dates. In 1959, although 32 per cent of the schools admitting the smallest number of students show two admission dates, only 38.3 per cent of the total 81 schools admit more than once a year.

The distribution of Canada's 81 Catholic schools of nursing among 10 provinces and the 1959 admissions, graduates and enrollment for each province is presented in Table 11, with comparable data for 1949.

Practical Nurse Schools—Fall 1959

The number of schools of practical nursing continues to increase with a total of 59 schools identified in this issue of the Directory, three more than in the 1958 issue. Involved in this net gain of three schools is a loss of two from the 1958 listings and the addition of five schools to this year's Directory.

Of the total 59 schools listed in 1959, three did not report students, including two schools which suspended admissions for the year and one school for which there is no information. The analysis which follows is based on the 56 schools for which information is available. Ten of the 56 schools are conducted in a Catholic institution in coöperation with a Department of Vocational Education.

The 56 programs reporting enrollment in 1959 have a total population of 1,699, 37 more students than were enrolled in the Fall of 1958 in the same number of schools. Negro students in 1959 number 144, or 8.5 per cent of the total enrollment and are reported by 26 schools, 44 per cent of the group. This includes one school with an all-Negro enrollment of 27 students. In 1958, 28 schools reported a total of 84 Negro students. Nineteen hundred and fifty-nine data includes 16 laymen in nine practical nurse schools, as compared with 22 in 12 schools in 1958. The 54 religious in 15 schools this year includes five brothers and represents four more religious enrolled than in 1958.

The largest school of practical nursing has 96 students enrolled in 1959. As is shown in Table 12, only six schools report 50 or more students enrolled. At the other extreme, there are less than 25 students in 48.2 per cent of the schools. This includes five schools with less than 10 students, 12 schools with 10-19 students and 10 schools with 20-24 students enrolled. The distribution of schools by total enrollment differs little from 1958 reports.

A total of 82 class groups were admitted by these schools in 1959 with the number of new students reaching 1,837, a gain of 11 students over 1958. In the 31 schools admitting but one class per year, total admissions ranged from 6 to 35 and the average for the 31 schools was about 19 students. The 24 schools with two new classes per year and one school with three new classes report total admissions for the year ranging from 28 students in three schools to one school with 97. Annual admissions average 50 for these 25 schools. The size of a single admission class ranged from eight to 60 students, however, and one-third of the classes admitted included less than 20 students. Since all of these schools now offer a one year program, the difference between 1,837 admitted and 1,699 enrolled represents a withdrawal rate of 7.6 per cent. Approximately 38 per cent of all students entering were in classes admitted in the first six months of 1959 and enrollment reported in these classes in October 1959 shows a 12.5 per cent loss.

In July and August, 321 students were admitted and 294 of these were still enrolled when reports were prepared—a drop of 8.4 per cent. The largest group of students, 43.3 per cent of all admissions in 1959, entered a practical nurse program in September and October. When annual questionnaires were completed in November, the number of Fall admissions reported as current enrollment indicated a 2.0 per cent loss.

Admission of Negro students was 25 per cent less in 1959 than in 1958. Admission of men was two less and religious increased by one.

The number of practical nurse schools reporting in 1959 in each of nine regions of the United States and Puerto Rico, with total admissions, enrollment and graduates in 1959 is found in Table 13. The three nonreporting schools would add one school to E.S.C., W.S.C. and Pacific Regions. The 55 schools reporting graduates includes two which are not represented in admission and enrollment data. Three of the new schools are represented in admission and enrollment data but have not graduated the first class. 1959 graduates were 36.1 per cent above 1958 with nine more schools reporting graduates. The increase is noted in regions with the same number of schools in both years as well as in the six regions which added new schools in 1958. Religious graduates in 1959 totaled 46, eight more than in 1958; there were 17 men graduates, one less than in 1958, and 118 Negro graduates, an increase of 16.

The 21 practical nurse schools reporting in Canada admitted 572 students including 14 Negroes, 15 men and nine religious. This is a 25 per cent increase over admissions in these schools in 1958. Current enrollment is 622 including 15 Negroes, 12 men and 17 religious, a 12.9 per cent increase from the previous year. Graduates were reported by 20 schools and numbered 329 including 16 Negroes, 11 men and 15 religious. There were 40 per cent more graduates than were reported in 1958.

Graduate Nurse Education

Table 14 presents data on baccalaureate degree programs for graduate nurses and master's degree programs in nursing in 1959. Colleges and universities listed in this issue of the Directory with graduate nurse students enrolled in a program leading to a bachelor's degree total 39 institutions with a total enrollment reported of 3,519—30.9 per cent of these students are enrolled on a full-time basis. Thirty-six institutions reported baccalaureate degrees granted to 800 registered nurses in 1959. Fifty per cent of these graduates are reported by 10 programs which have been fully approved as preparing for beginning public health nursing and 10.6 per cent are reported by two programs with full N.L.N. accreditation. In the non-accredited group there are 24 institutions which granted 275 bachelor's degrees to graduate nurses in 1959. Enrollment in both baccalaureate degree programs and master's degree programs dropped in 1959 according to the information presented in this Table. A change in the wording of the questionnaire on which data is submitted clearly eliminated non-matriculated students from the 1959 reports. It is probable that non-matriculating students had been reported in previous years.

Analysis of the number of master's degrees granted in 1959 and enrollment in each of the majors offered on a master's level by one of the six Catholic universities graduate programs in nursing is found in Table 15. ★

EDUCATION FOR HOSPITAL SERVICE

Part III

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS AVAILABLE IN CATHOLIC INSTITUTIONS WHICH PREPARE PERSONNEL FOR THE PARAMEDICAL FIELDS.

Introduction

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS for 11 fields of hospital service are available in Catholic institutions of higher education and in Catholic hospitals. A list of Catholic institutions offering programs in each of these fields begins on the next page.

Where an approval system has been established for programs preparing for a particular field, only those Catholic institutions offering approved programs are listed. The following sources were used to identify approved programs in the United States:

Anesthesia (for Nurses)—approved list of The American Association of Nurse Anesthetists.

Medical Record Library Science
Medical Record Technicians
Medical Technology
X-Ray Technology
Occupational Therapy Technology
Physical Therapy Technology
} Approved list of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals, American Medical Association.

Hospital Administration—member of the Association of University Programs in Hospital Administration

Programs listed for Pharmacy, Dietetics and Medical Social Service are limited to those offered by Catholic institutions of higher education approved by a regional accrediting association.

Information about educational programs available in Canada was taken from the 1959 Canadian Hospital Directory. All Catholic agencies listed for paramedical programs by the Canadian publication are included in the Table which follows without reference to approved status.

Table I presents a summary of the number of programs available for each field by state, territory and Canadian province. In the United States, a total of 393 Catholic institutions offer educational programs in one or more of the paramedical fields. Of these, 103 are colleges or universities and 290 are hospitals. In Canada, 44 Catholic institutions are identified as offering one or more programs in these fields, including seven colleges or universities, 36 hospitals and one organization.

Catholic institutions in the United States are well represented in education for Medical Record Library Science and Medical Record Technicians. In Medical Technology and X-Ray Technology education, Catholic institutions represent about ⅓ of all institutions offering approved courses in each of these areas. In some fields, notably, Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy, few Catholic institutions offer programs. The following summary shows the total number of approved programs in the United States in the paramedical fields and the number of Catholic institutions offering approved programs:

	Total Approved Programs	Total Approved Programs in Catholic Institutions
Anesthesia (for Nurses)	124	39
Hospital Administration	17	1

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS ENGAGED IN HOSPITAL AND NURSING EDUCATION ACTIVITIES

Part IV

SINCE 1937 information regarding religious organizations in the hospital field (including nursing education programs) has been a feature of the annual Directory. Every effort is made by the compilers of this section to record all changes in organization of the almost 300 separate groups responsible for the conduct of these agencies of the Church. It is, therefore, of inestimable value as a means of accurately identifying the specific activities of each religious group active in this field.

Because the names of the various religious groups are in some instances lengthy or, in other cases, the same or similar to those of other religious groups, the Editors have devised a code number system by which to identify each of the organizations. The sequence of the various orders and congregations here listed is alphabetical by a significant word in the title of each.

In developing this plan, it was necessary to distinquish between orders of men and women, and to provide coding for the United States and its Possessions and Canada and its Territories. The letter "M" is used to designate each order of men. Religious orders active in the United States and its Possessions are listed in Table II. The letter "C" is employed as a prefix to each Canadian code number. For Newfoundland, the letter "N" is used as the prefix. These are listed in Table III.

When reference is made to the order, congregation, or organization owning or conducting an institution, the code number in parenthesis, placed to the right of the name or address of the institution, designates this fact.

When the institution conducts a school of nursing "s" is placed at the end of the last line of the entry; for a college engaged in graduate nurse education "ne" is placed after the last line of the entry; and for an agency conducting a program for practical nurses, the abbreviation "pn" is used.

Appendix A

PROFESSIONAL AND GOVERNMENT AGENCIES IN HOSPITAL SERVICE

Introduction

WHILE the "care of the sick" is the primary purpose of general and special hospitals, the other responsibilities and objectives of these institutions must not be overlooked—they include education for the professions, health education for patients and the public, research, etc. Though owned by various groups, government or non-government, it might be well to point out, too, that the hospital is the "workshop" of the medical profession—wherein the "sick" receive medical care from the physician in accordance with professional and scientific standards developed and promulgated by many medical groups of a general or specialized character.

Educational activities by the hospital—especially on behalf of nurses—are governed by standards promulgated by outside agencies. Educational programs in which the hospital cooperates are likewise governed by set standards. In many areas, hospitals act as cooperating agencies, subject to the observance of professional standards in the care of patients, the education of students, etc.

Realizing how varied are the activities of the hospital and how extensive its professional and government relations must be, the Editors of this Annual Directory some years ago recognized how helpful to the administrator and her staff might be a listing of all such groups. Such a listing would include various groups having direct and indirect interests in general and specialized hospital services.

Since there are approximately 155 agencies for Canada and the United States, the following groupings were employed for classification purposes:

I. International and National Hospital Associations
II. National Medical Associations
III. Special Medical Groups
IV. International and National Nurses' Associations
V. Related Professional Societies Having Hospital Interests
VI. Professional and General Educational Agencies
VII. National Dental Associations
VIII. National Public Health and Welfare Groups
IX. Related General Organizations
X. Government Agencies

An index arranged alphabetically affords easy access to the listing of particular agencies concerning which the reader may be seeking information.

For each organization an attempt was made to present the following data: name, year of establishment, address of central office, addresses of other offices (if any), principal officers, councils or committees concerned with hospital service, publications—including those devoted to hospital services, standards, etc. For each journal, the following information is given if available—name, year of establishment, frequency of publication, and annual subscription fees.

Guard Against Static Spark Explosion!

Three proven aids to give you maximum safety at minimum cost and without inconvenience to busy operating room personnel.

The CONDUCTOMETER®

In operating rooms, delivery rooms and emergency rooms throughout the country, Conductometers are in daily use, testing the electrical resistance of personnel, flooring and equipment. Our exclusive elbow switch permits personnel testing under aseptic conditions. The quick and easy routine of Conductometer testing is as vitally important to safety as the scrub-up! (See N. F. P. A. Booklet No. 56, regarding electrical testing of flooring, equipment and personnel.)

The Hospital in Canon Law

by JAMES I. O'CONNOR, S.J.
West Baden Springs
West Baden, Indiana

THE TITLE MIGHT SEEM TO indicate that every aspect of canon law in relation to hospitals is going to be treated. Such will not be the case for at least two reasons: first, the lack of sufficient space; second, some canonical aspects of hospital administration were treated in the regional conferences over six years ago and can be found in the proceedings of those conferences, Policy Determination for Catholic Hospitals, pp. 1-13. Instead, then, some other canonical matters pertaining to hospitals will be taken up.

The first topic has to do with the use of money given to a hospital. It may be that when money is donated to a hospital no other specifications are set down for its use. Even in such a case all that money must be used for hospital purposes since the gift was made to the hospital as such. Therefore, such money, if accepted as offered, cannot be diverted to other purposes, no matter how worthy and pressing they may be.

If further specifications are made, the same rule holds. As a result, if the money is given to be used for the surgery department and is accepted with that stipulation, then it cannot be used for some other purpose, even if still within the scope of the hospital. Consequently, it should be absolutely clearly understood that when a benefactor makes a gift of money or other property to the hospital and the gift is accepted as stipulated, the gift must be used in that way and in no other. This does not mean, however, that if there is no occasion here and now to use the money as specified, the money cannot be put into a savings account or similar disposition so as to have it productive until the stipulated occasion comes along for the specific use of the money (cp. Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest (Milwaukee: Bruce), v.3, p. 177, question 120).

This general principle, of using benefactions according to the will of the donors, is frequently found in the Code of Canon Law, e.g.,

> Canon 493: No religious institute, once it has been lawfully established, even if it be of diocesan law only and even though it be composed of only one house, can be suppressed except by the Holy See, to which is also reserved the right of disposing of the property in the case, always however fulfilling the will of the donors. (emphasis added.)

> Canon 1417, No. 2 regarding foundations: Conditions, once they are set down and accepted, cannot be validly suppressed or changed by the Local Ordinary except when there is question of changes favorable to the Church and the consent of the founder himself is obtained. (emphasis added.)

This obligation to use money or other property for the purposes intended or designated sometimes carries other obligations with it. Thus, if the money to be invested and the revenues produced by the investment are to be used for the worship of God or works of charity, in addition to permissions required by constitutions, the approbation of the Local Ordinary may also be necessary. Such approval is required if:

1. the money to be invested has been left to a house of a religious Congregation. Therefore, such approval is not required in a pontifical law community if the money is left to a province or to the community as such. We say "pontifical law community" because, by general law, diocesan law communities must obtain the consent of the Local Ordinary for every kind of investment whatsoever (Can. 533, No. 1, 1°);

2. the money must be designated for the worship of God, e.g., Masses, or for works of charity, e.g., hospitals;

3. the money is to be expended in the very place where the house is located. Therefore, if the money may be spent elsewhere, the approval of the Ordinary of the place where the house is located is not required (Can. 533, No. 1, 4°). To be noted is that all three conditions must be verified simultaneously with regard to a given investment before the Local Ordinary's approval is necessary in the case of pontifical law institutes. If such an investment is to be changed, the Local Ordinary's consent must be obtained also (Can. 533, No. 2). The Local Ordinary has the right to inquire about all such investments (Can. 535, No. 3, 2°).

In the questionnaire to be filled out every five years by all Superiors General, we find the following pertinent questions (cf. Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v. 3, pp. 177-178):

119: Did Superiors, Councils and Administrators lawfully, safely and profitably invest (Can. 533) the money which was to be invested according to law and the will of benefactors, observing the rules of law and the Constitutions? [Note the words: "according to the will of benefactors."]

125. In accepting pious foundations and legacies, were the rules of law (Can 1544 ff.) and of the Constitutions observed? [In the canons referred to by this question, note the underlined sections which in one way or another insist on the fulfillment of the will of the donor:

Can. 1544, No. 1: By the term "pious foundations" is meant the property given in any way to any moral person in the Church with the obligation in perpetuity or for a long time of using the annual income for the celebration of Masses or the performance of other specified ecclesiastical functions or the discharge of certain works of piety or charity.

Can. 1546, No. 1: In order that a moral person may accept foundations of this kind, the written consent of the Local Ordinary is required and he is not to give his consent until he has ascertained according to law that the moral person is able to fulfill both the new obligation to be assumed and the obligations already assumed.

Can. 1549, No. 2: Likewise, in addition to the book referred to in canon 843, No. 1 [for listing Mass intentions] another book must be kept by the rector in which shall be recorded each individual obligation, whether perpetual or temporary, as well as the fulfillment and the offerings, so that an exact account of all these matters can be given to the Local Ordinary.]

126. Was the money of foundations and pious causes, according to law and with the consent of the Local Ordinary when that was required, invested (Can. 533, Nos. 1, 2; 1547) and separately and faithfully administered (Can. 535, No. 3, 2°; 1546; 1549)? [Note the word "faithfully," i.e., loyal and true to one's agreement with the founder or benefactor.]

127. Were the obligations attached to foundations faithfully and conscientiously fulfilled (Can. 1514; 1549, No. 2)? [Again, note the word "faithfully" and the additional word "conscientiously," sc., one has an obligation in conscience and will have to give an account to God for the way one has discharged or failed to discharge the obligations assumed.]

From all we have seen, it is clear that the Church is very insistent on the fulfillment of such obligations because they pertain to the virtue of justice and to the seventh commandment of God. At times, some religious act as though they have no obligation to respect, much less to fulfill, the wishes of benefactors. If the wishes of benefactors are not acceptable, then the gift itself cannot be accepted unless the benefactor can be persuaded to change the conditions attached to the gift. Even if not set down in writing, such an agreement between benefactor and hospital or its duly authorized person is a contract and, as such, the terms must be carried out under penalty of sin, the gravity of which depends on the seriousness of the violation and other factors governing moral responsibility.

There is another problem connected with hospital finances and that is the quite prevalent practice of higher superiors laying claim to hospital income for other purposes, e.g., upkeep of houses of formation, or other projects or activities of the community. It may be objected that these houses and projects have to be supported and so all monies not necessary for the maintenance of the hospital can justly be claimed by higher superiors. This objection, while partly true, sc., the houses of formation, etc. need support, cannot be sustained in its universality of enunciation for at least two reasons:

1. The Church herself is against any such draining of the funds of a house—in this case, the hospital—where the house belongs to the community as hospitals ordinarily do. Parochial schools and diocesan-owned hospitals are not houses belonging to the community and, as a result, constitutions or customs usually require that all funds left over after necessary expenses for the sisters be turned over to the provincial or general treasury. Such a provision is perfectly reasonable since the community of sisters has no financial responsibility for the house in question and, consequently, has no need of the surplus funds. The case, however, is different when the house is owned by the religious. Constitutions usually provide that the General Chapter decide what amount is to be contributed to the provincial or general treasury. That not all income over and above necessary expenses is to be given to higher superiors is clearly brought out in the questionnaire for the quinquennial report where we read (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v. 3, p. 175):

98: By what authority (Chapter, Council, General or Provincial Superior), on what principles and in what proportion are the contributions to the general and provincial funds determined? [Note the word "proportion." There can be no question of a "proportion" if all surplus funds are to be turned over to the provincial or general treasury. Therefore, the word "proportion" in itself shows that part of the surplus is to be left to the house.]

100. Are the Provinces and houses allowed to retain whatever is prudently foreseen to be necessary or very appropriate for their own life and growth, in view of the good of souls and the welfare of the Institute? [Note the words "allowed to retain," "very appropriate" and "growth." Consequently, not only what is necessary for mere existence and life of the sisters and house is to be retained, but also enough to be able to grow, sc., to expand, develop, etc.]

From these questions it is evident that hospitals are not to be drained or "milked" of all funds left over after meeting current expenses. They are to be left a sizable amount for their own uses, e.g., expansion of services, new buildings, new equipment, replacement of worn or outmoded equipment, extraordinary repairs, building up capital funds, etc. While the Code and the questionnaire do not determine just what minimum percentage should be left to the hospitals, earlier practice of the Holy See, which is still the practice or law in some communities, was that only one-third of the net surplus income could be collected by higher superiors, thus leaving two-thirds to the lower entity, sc., province in relation to the general treasury; a hospital or other house in relation to the provincial treasury. Often enough today the assessment is made by setting an annual sum for each religious assigned to a house (cf. Policy Determination, p. 12). The matter may also be covered by an agreement or contract between the province or institute and the hospital for compensation for services rendered to the hospital by the sisters assigned to the hospital (cf. Review for Religious, 14(1955)329, nn. 29-30).

2. Another reason why higher superiors cannot claim all net surplus income is indicated in question 100 cited above, sc., "prudently foreseen to be necessary or very appropriate . . . in view of the good of souls and the welfare of the Institute." Here there is a problem of public relations. Often enough extern persons would help hospitals if the money, etc. left or otherwise given to the hospital for its own specific purposes, proximate or remote, stayed in the hospital. However, because such persons at times hear or even know that any benefactions not really necessary for current operational expenses of the hospital will be snapped up by higher superiors for other purposes, the benefactions are never made. This result goes to show another effect of not using money for the purposes intended or designated by the donors.

Therefore, the net surplus income of hospitals is not to be siphoned off by higher superiors but a sizable amount is to be left to the hospitals, first of all because the Church so wishes; and secondly because good public relations call for such practice.

Our third topic for consideration is, in practice today, a very difficult one. It is the problem of superior and administrator in a hospital. The subject has come up for serious thought only in comparatively recent years. There is nothing as such on this matter in the Code of Canon Law, nor has any instruction or other official document been issued by the Holy See to give a solution or to indicate how to handle this problem. No doubt the reason is because the problem is too relative to particular situations, etc., to be resolved by a general law.

Since there are no specific norms set down by the Church, many religious institutes have devised various plans to try to solve the problem. Two such plans were described by Father Flanagan back in 1953 at the regional conferences. His paper can be found in Policy Determination, pp. 31-33.* It may be that some variations of these plans or some altogether new plans have since been developed.

Traditionally and canonically, all authority on a given level has been centered in one individual. In recent times, the matter of dividing authority has come up for at least a couple of reasons: 1) to split up the load of work; 2) to find or provide a bond of continuity in the administration of a hospital or school (the latter usually a college or university) and still obey the canonical requirement (Can. 505) that local superiors be changed at least by the end of six years in office in the same house. The Holy See has officially declared that the canonical limit of six years in office does not apply to administrators IF they are not at the same time superior of the religious community (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v.1, p. 275).

*Father Flanagan has suggested that I clarify these plans and interpret them in language clearly in harmony with the principles of Canon Law. It is his wish that this paper supplant the one carried on this topic in the Policy Determination referred to above.

There are various aspects to this problem and, as a result, various possible solutions.

1. The first case is that where the religious do not own the hospital but are merely engaged (hired) to operate it. In this situation, separation of the offices of superior and administrator is easy. The superior runs the convent and its community. The administrator as such is directly responsible to the owners of the hospital. All the financial management is to be kept clearly distinct from that of the religious community. This obligation is brought out in so many words in question 90 of the quinquennial report (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v.3, p. 174):

> In cases where works which are not the property of the house, such as clerical or religious residence-halls, hospitals, churches, etc. are entrusted to the religious houses, are these properties kept clearly distinct from those which belong to the religious house itself?

In this case the only right the local superior would have would be that of vigilance after the manner of the right given by the Code (Can. 630, No. 4) to religious superiors over a religious who is a pastor of a church not belonging to the religious community. Even this right is not had by the local superior of a community engaged to operate a hospital not its own unless the right is given the superior by the constitutions, custom, or delegation by proper authority, or equivalently, sc., by a command from a competent higher superior to the local superior to exercise vigilance over the administrator's work. It goes without saying that the administrator as a religious is subject to the local superior as are all the other religious in the house.

2. The other type of case is that where the religious own the hospital. Under this heading a further division of aspect must be considered.

a) The hospital and the local religious community are not one entity. In this situation an easy separation of the offices of administrator and local superior can again be achieved. The hospital would be a work directly subject to higher authority within the community, sc., Provincial or General as the case may be. In such a case, the administrator acting as such is responsible to the provincial or general superior unless, as in the preceding case, the local superior should be given any right of vigilance in the case, although in this instance there is not the same need of local vigilance because the hospital is directly under the authority of the religious province or institute. This case, even more so than the first one, is not the usual situation. Rather, the ordinary arrangement is the following.

b) The hospital and the local religious community form one entity. Here all the temporalities or finances are one and, consequently, are subject to the direction of the local superior and the vigilance of her council. It may be that the local superior has little knowledge of hospital administration but, nevertheless, all reports, including financial statements, etc., must be submitted to her as required by the general law of the Church (Can. 516, No. 2) and explicitly asked about in the quinquennial questionnaire, qq. 113-115 (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v.3, p. 177). Therefore, whether the religious administering the hospital is called an administrator or assistant administrator (in this case the superior is also the administrator technically), the local superior is the real authority, even though he or she may seldom be in direct contact with the hospital staff, personnel, or patients.

When the hospital is owned by the religious, administrators are obliged to render accounts of their administration to the proper religious superior according as the case is that of a) or b) of this type of administration. The respective superior must demand an accounting if it is not voluntarily submitted at the required intervals. Question 114 of the quinquennial formula explicitly inquires whether a clear and complete rendering of account was demanded of all and each of the bursars and administrators during the five-year period (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v.3, p. 177).

Since general law has no delineation of the authority of the local superior and the administrator when these offices are held by different persons, higher superiors have a definite obligation to draw up rules setting forth the scope of authority possesed by each. Sanctions also must be determined just in case use of them should prove necessary. On this point of giving necessary directions and setting up sanctions for treasurers and administrators there is again an explicit inquiry in the quinquennial formula (q. 117).

One way of dividing the authority is as follows. To be remembered is that this manner of distributing authority is not obligatory; it is simply

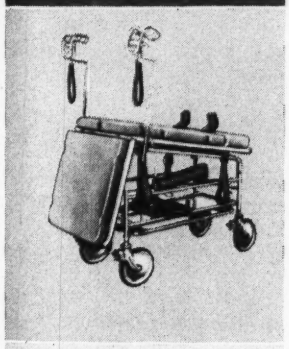
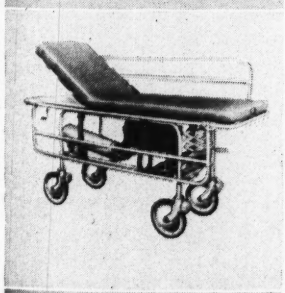
the EASY LIFT

With its ingeniously engineered two-way Slide and Tilt feature, the "Easy-Lift" unit is the ultimate in patient care and handling. One small nurse can transfer the heaviest patient easily. With available accessories the "Easy-Lift" is today's most modern emergency and recovery room unit.



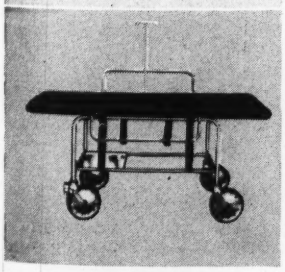
the CONVER-TABLE

Our most versatile unit. Ideally suited for use as a labor bed, recovery unit, O.B. examinations and emergency obstetrics . . . converts quickly from O.B. table to stretcher. Versatility is accomplished because of the unit's unique design and of the large selection of available accessories.



the STANDARD

A leader in its field. Modern, versatile, for Emergency and Recovery Room use. This competitively priced stretcher has numerous features not available on conventional stretchers. The unit is completely self contained. All accessories store on the stretcher ready for immediate use.

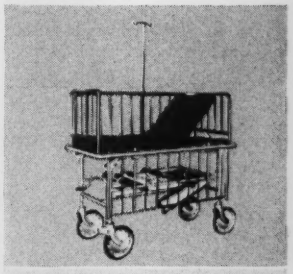


the ECONOMY

Dollar for dollar you can't beat the Hausted Economy. Designed for the simple transfer and movement of patients and engineered to give years of dependable service. The Economy is tops in the low priced field.

the PEDIATRIC

This newest member of the Hausted stretcher family answers a growing need for a smaller yet versatile stretcher. A large variety of optional accessories usually found only on larger units is available on this pediatric unit, making it adaptable to all pediatric needs as well as an invaluable adjunct to recovery room service.

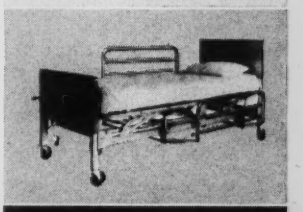


the INVAL-AID CHAIR

The most efficient, modern, and safe unit for incapacitated patient handling. The incapacitated patient can be transferred from bed to flat stretcher top and then by a simple turn of a crank the unit is converted into any chair position.

the BED RAILS

Now available is this all new permanently attached safety bed rail. This extremely rigid rail can be easily installed on 90 percent of today's hospital beds (without drilling or alteration to bed frame) giving adequate safety to patients. When in storage, bed rail is completely out of the way and yet ready to be pulled up and into position for immediate use. Rail locks securely for added safety.



the TRACTIONAID

The ultimate in modern pelvic and cervical intermittent traction and manipulation. Is electronically controlled and hydraulically operated for smooth application. The TRACTIONAID is the only unit which compensates for the patient's movement and has complete control of "on" and "off" cycle.

a suggested way of doing things. We shall go over the various divisions of authority and add some comments under the various divisions or "rules."

Rules for the (Assistant) Administrator

1. THE HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATOR IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TOP LEVEL ADMINISTRATION IN ALL AREAS OF OPERATION OF THE HOSPITAL, SCHOOL OF NURSING AND OTHER EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS CONDUCTED BY THE HOSPITAL.

In the usual situation, sc., where the hospital and the local religious community are really one entity, it seems that the religious actually administering the hospital, whether called administrator or assistant administrator, should have powers like those which are here indicated, even though reports, etc. will all be submitted to the local superior with, perhaps, a copy of some reports, e.g., semi-annual report, sent also to the higher superior, i.e., to the Provincial or General.

Supposing the ordinary situation of hospital and local religious community being one entity, permissions, approvals, etc., will all have to be cleared on the local level through the local superior. However, the administrator can draw up a prospectus of expenses, of various permissions, etc. for the following six-month or other period of time and have all this approved once for all by the local superior and thus avoid almost constant running to the superior and provide for better operation of the hospital.

Correspondence which pertains to the hospital, minutes of the board of directors, hospital finance, insurance, properties and investments should be directed to the administrator who will confer with the proper person(s) according to the nature or order of the correspondence.

Applications for railroad passes, clergy books for bus and railroad lines and related items are the responsibility of the administrator. Ordinarily, passes are in the name of the hospital administrator. Details of transportation, arranging trips, etc. are handled by the superior.

Hospital Christmas cards, Christmas gifts for employes and others connected with the hospital, arranging for Christmas carolers, etc., are the responsibility of the administrator or the person delegated for this responsibility. Representation at funerals of doctors, nurses, hospital employes is the responsibility of the administrator who will receive permission from the su-

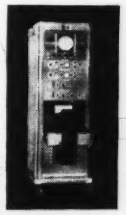
CAMBRIDGE
CARDIAC DIAGNOSTIC INSTRUMENTS

"Versa-Scribe"
The Versatile Electrocardiograph

The completely new portable instrument providing greatly improved performance and versatility not found in any other direct writing electrocardiograph. Small size (5¼" x 10½" x 17") and low weight—20 pounds.

Multi-Channel Recorders



For physiological research, cardiac catheterization and routine electrocardiography. Versatile and comprehensive, this series of new multi-channel recorders, when used with pertinent transducers, provides simultaneous indication and recording of EKGs, EEGs, stethograms and many other physiological phenomena. Various combinations of these functions can be traced simultaneously on a single record. Available in Photographic Recording and Direct Writing models.

ASSURE THE DOCTOR OF

Universally Accepted Records
Fundamental Accuracy
Lifetime Dependability
Minimum Maintenance Expense

Dye-Dilution Curve Recorder

Records changes of concentration of a dye injected at selected sites in the venous circulation. Determines cardiac output; detects and locates cardiac shunts.

Operating Room Cardioscope

Provides continuous observation of the Electrocardiogram and heart-rate during surgery. Warns of approaching cardiac stand-still. Explosion-proof. This cardioscope is a "must" for the modern Operating Room.

"Simpli-Scribe"
Direct Writer Electrocardiograph

Provides the Cardiologist, Clinic or Hospital with a portable direct writing Electrocardiograph of utmost usefulness and accuracy. Size 10⅜" x 10⅜" x 11"; weight 28 pounds, complete with all accessories.

Audio-Visual Heart Sound Recorder

Enables the Doctor to simultaneously HEAR, SEE and permanently RECORD heart sounds. Any portion of the heart sounds may be permanently recorded upon magnetic discs, which may then be played back and viewed at any time. When used in combination with the "Versa-Scribe" or "Simpli-Scribe" Electrocardiograph, the electrocardiogram may be viewed upon the cathode-ray screen of the Recorder while listening to the heart sounds.

CAMBRIDGE ALSO MAKES

EDUCATIONAL CARDIOSCOPE— For teaching electrocardiography and auscultation by audio-visual demonstration. The EKG, heart sounds and other physiological phenomena may be shown continuously on the 17-inch oscillograph screen. A tape recorder provides a permanent record of heart sounds which may be played back at any time for visual and audio demonstration in lieu of patients.

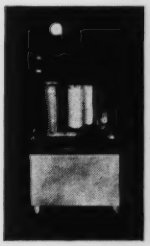
PLETHYSMOGRAPH— Records variations in volume of extremities as determined by the state of fullness of the blood vessels.

ELECTROKYMOGRAPH— Produces a continuous record of heart border motion at chosen points along the cardiac silhouette.

RESEARCH pH METER— For biological and research work. Sensitive to .005 pH, readings reproducible to .01 pH.

HUXLEY ULTRA MICROTOME— For cutting sections with exceptional uniformity between thicknesses of 100°A and 1500°A, in 50°A steps, for use with the electron microscope.

POCKET DOSIMETERS AND LINDEMANN-RYERSON ELECTROMETERS— For measurement of radioactive emission.



Pulmonary Function Tester

A completely integrated, easy-to-use instrument for the determination of such functions as Functional Residual Capacity, Tidal Volume, Vital Capacity, Total Lung Capacity, Total Breathing Capacity, Basal Metabolic Rate, etc.

perior for herself or/and any other sister who is to leave the premises.

The administrator is responsible for keeping an accurate account of all donations to the hospital and a list of the hospital benefactors. Personal gifts to the sisters such as are given by relatives or friends at Christmas, birthday, feast day, etc., are turned in to the superior. All gifts received in the hospital unless specified for the sisters are given to the administrator as gifts to the hospital; a record should be kept and a letter or card of appreciation sent.

2. THE HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATOR WITH THE ADVICE OF THE HOSPITAL EXECUTIVE BOARD AND THE CONSENT OF THE LOCAL SUPERIOR APPOINTS SISTERS WHO HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO THE HOSPITAL TO SPECIFIC POSITIONS WITHIN THE HOSPITAL.

When a sister is absent from her hospital duty because of illness, retreat, vacation, attendance at professional or educational meetings, etc., the administrator, after conferring with the superior, appoints another sister to take her place if necessary.

The administrator is responsible not only for her own growth in knowledge of current thinking and practice in hospital matters but also the growth of others in her organization. She is to make long-term plans for attendance by as many of her staff as possible at conventions, institutes and workshops. She confers with the superior regarding the sisters who are to attend these activities.

3. THE SISTERS IN THE HOSPITAL ARE RESPONSIBLE TO THE ADMINISTRATOR TO THE SAME DEGREE THAT LAY PERSONNEL IN SIMILAR POSITIONS ARE RESPONSIBLE TO THE ADMINISTRATOR. IN ADDITION, SISTERS REPORT PROPOSED ABSENCES, DEPARTURES AND RETURNS TO THE ADMINISTRATOR AS WELL AS TO THE OTHER SUPERVISORS TO WHOM LAY PERSONNEL NORMALLY REPORT.

Schedules for sisters' retreats, vacations, night call, days off etc., if made on "on duty" time, should be drawn up jointly by the superior and the administrator.

4. REQUESTS FOR HOSPITALITY BY PRIESTS, BROTHERS AND SISTERS, IF ATTENDING HOSPITAL MEETINGS OR OTHER HOSPITAL ACTIVITIES, ARE HANDLED BY THE ADMINISTRATOR.

cf. rule 4 of the superior.

5. THE DISPENSING OF HOSPITAL CHARITY, APPLICATIONS FOR FREE AND PART-FREE CARE, PROVISIONS FOR THE POOR AT CHRISTMAS FROM HOSPITAL RESOURCES ARE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE ADMINISTRATOR.

6. CHAPEL FUNCTIONS WHICH AFFECT THE PATIENTS, HOSPITAL PERSONNEL OR SCHEDULE SHOULD BE DETERMINED BY A JOINT DECISION OF THE ADMINISTRATOR AND THE SUPERIOR AND CLEARED WITH THE HOSPITAL CHAPLAIN.

The administrator is responsible for retreats, days of recollection and other religious services for hospital personnel, medical staff, women's auxiliary and other hospital groups. She engages the priest, makes the remuneration with a letter or card of appreciation, etc.

C.H.A. CONVENTIONS

Milwaukee	1960
Detroit	1961

Student-nurse religious functions—retreats, Holy Hour, Mass at the opening of the school year, Communion breakfasts, capping and graduation exercises, etc.—are planned by the school of nursing director and submitted to the administrator for approval. The director of nursing then engages the priest, takes care of the remuneration, the letter or card of appreciation, etc. Ordinarily, the administrator caps the student nurses.

The distribution of blessed ashes, blessed palm, the blessing of throats for patients and hospital personnel are arranged for by the administrator with the hospital chaplain.

Since many of the above are chapel services, the administrator should confer with the superior well in advance of the date of such service. Both the superior and the administrator should be vigilant that these and other chapel services are noted on the weekly hospital calendar. Information for the calendar should be in the administrator's office by noon each Friday for the week beginning Sunday and should be cleared with the hospital chaplain so that everything will be done in accord with Canon and Liturgical Law.

Rules for the Local Superior

1. THE LOCAL SUPERIOR IS RESPONSIBLE IN ALL AREAS OF OPERATION OF THE CONVENT AND FOR THE SPIRITUAL LIFE OF THE SISTERS. THIS INCLUDES THE HORARIUM, PROVISION FOR THE SISTERS' SPIRITUAL NEEDS AS WELL AS PROVISION FOR THE CARE OF THE SISTERS IN SICKNESS AND IN HEALTH.

The local superior sees to it that all reports, including financial reports, of the operation of the hospital are submitted to her by the administrator at the intervals specified in Canon Law and the Constitutions. If such reports are not forthcoming at the stated times, she is to demand them. These reports are then presented to her Council to the extent required by Canon Law and the Constitutions (cf. Canon 516, No. 2; Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v. 3, p. 177, qq. 113-115).

Work orders for the convent, if they concern persons who also work in the hospital, are cleared through the administrator's office like those of all units of the hospital. Requisitions and purchase orders for the convent are handled directly with the purchasing department and need not clear through the administrator's office.

If there is a sisters' infirmary and if it is distinct from the hospital, the superior should confer with the administrator in unusual matters which concern doctors, hospital personnel or departments.

In important matters pertaining to the sisters' laundry, meals and transportation, where confusion might result in these hospital departments, the superior should confer with the administrator.

Convent Christmas and other occasional cards and gifts to convent employes, benefactors, etc., are the responsibility of the superior or the person delegated for this responsibility. Representation at funerals, etc. of priests, religious and other persons not directly connected with the hospital is the responsibility of the superior.

The superior is responsible for keeping an accurate account of all gifts to the convent as well as a list of the convent benefactors. She sends a letter or card of appreciation in such cases. She receives the personal gifts made to sisters on the occasion of Christmas, birthday, etc. and gives permission, if requested, for their use in accord with Canon Law, the Constitutions and local customs of the community.

2. IN GRANTING PERMISSIONS WHICH INVOLVE ABSENCE OF SISTERS FROM THEIR ASSIGNED RESPONSIBILITIES IN THE HOSPITAL AND SIMILARLY IN OTHER IRREGULARITIES, THE SUPERIOR OR THE SISTER CLEARS THE MATTER WITH THE ADMINISTRATOR SO THAT MISUNDERSTANDING AND OTHER INCONVENIENCES MAY BE AVOIDED.

3. IN ORDER TO LIGHTEN THE LOAD OF THE ADMINISTRATOR, THE SUPERIOR WILL, IF POSSIBLE, VISIT ALL PRIESTS, BROTHERS AND SISTERS WHO ARE PATIENTS IN THE HOPITAL.

4. REQUESTS FOR HOSPTALITY NOT OCCASIONED BY HOSPITAL MEETINGS OR ACTIVITIES ARE HANDLED BY THE SUPERIOR. IF, HOWEVER, HOSPITAL ROOMS ARE USED IN SUCH CASES, THE ADMINISTRATOR SHOULD BE CONSULTED.

cf. rule 4 of the administrator.

5. REQUESTS FOR CHARITY CARE IN THE HOSPITAL, FOR HOSPITAL EMPLOYMENT AND OTHER SIMILAR HOSPITAL MATTERS SHOULD BE REFERRED TO THE ADMINISTRATOR.

6. CHAPEL FUNCTIONS WHICH DO NOT AFFECT THE PATIENTS, HOSPITAL PERSONNEL OR SCHEDULES ARE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE SUPERIOR AND SHOULD BE CLEARED WITH THE HOSPITAL CHAPLAIN.

cf. rule 6 of the administrator. Clearance with the hospital chaplain must be had to make sure that everything is done in accord with Canon and Liturgical Law as well as to make sure he will be available for the function either personally or through a substitute.

Provisions to Insure Harmony and Unity of Function Between Superior and Administrator

1. THE SUPERIOR IS A MEMBER OF THE HOSPITAL EXECUTIVE BOARD, ATTENDS ALL MEETINGS AND HAS A VOICE IN ALL DECISIONS.

The superior is a member of the administrator's administrative council since she is the real authority and also so that she may be well informed on current hospital policies, problems and decisions. The superior receives a copy of the hospital weekly calendar and is included on the routing slip of all hospital literature.

2. THE HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATOR IS A MEMBER OF THE SUPERIOR'S LOCAL COUNCIL.

This seems necessary since most, if not all, of the religious community will be working in the hospital in some capacity and, as a result, matters of convent life will ordinarily have effects also on hospital work.

3. THE ADMINISTRATOR AND THE SUPERIOR FREQUENTLY DISCUSS HOSPITAL AND CONVENT ACTIVITIES AND TRY TO KEEP EACH OTHER CONSTANTLY INFORMED ON MATTERS WHICH MAY IN ANY WAY INVOLVE OR CONCERN THE PLANS OR RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE OTHER. ALTHOUGH THERE WILL BE OCCASIONAL OVERLAPPING OF AUTHORITY, AN ATTITUDE OF MUTUAL COÖPERATION CAN PREVENT THIS FROM EVER CONSTITUTING A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

The scheduling of Masses for newly-ordained priests is arranged for with the superior who should have some sort of understanding with the hospital chaplain about visiting priests saying Mass at the hospital chapel. The administrator is responsible for the instruction of the hospital personnel on the blessing by the newly-ordained priest, etc. This might be cited as an example of how the superior and the administrator must keep each other informed and work in close coöperation on points of this nature.

With regard to the oft-quoted example of the superior and the administrator who had difficulty over who was to meet the Bishop, it should be decided as follows: If the Bishop is to attend the jubilee or funeral of a sister, etc., the superior does the honors; if the Bishop is to attend the dedication of a new wing of the hospital, a meeting of the hospital lay advisory board, etc., the administrator does the honors.

Whether the above-suggested division of authority between superior and administrator be followed or some other plan, if any plan is to have any chance of working, compatible personalities must be chosen for the positions because there is bound to be danger of friction and overlapping of duties. If there is trouble between the superior and the administrator, it is the other sisters in the community who will really suffer because, since they are subjects of both parties although in different way, they will be put in a difficult situation because of conflicting orders on the parts of the superior and the administrator.

A final issue for consideration is the question whether lay men and lay women may be employed for various administrative officers in a hospital, even up to being the administrator of the hospital. The subject is very frequently brought up and there are quite a number of religious who claim or, at least, think and say that lay persons cannot be canonically allowed to have such offices.

There is no such canonical prohibition. It is generally supposed that qualified religious will ordinarily be used for administration. However, it may well be that no religious is properly qualified for the office in question, or, even if such a religious is available, it may easily enough happen that he or she is more valuable in some other position. In either case, a properly qualified lay man or lay woman may be hired to discharge the office. That such is the proper attitude and is not only not canonically prohibited but even included in the Church's mind on such matters is again clear from one of the questions on administration in the quinquennial questionnaire where we read in question 94 (Bouscaren: Canon Law Digest, v.3, p. 175):

> a) Were all persons to whom the administration or management of property is entrusted, chosen with due care, after making all the previous investigations which were necessary or useful?
> b) Were the members of the Institute itself given preference over outsiders for offices of administration, whenever this could prudently be done without loss?

"Outsiders" include everybody who is not a member of the religious institute. Therefore, it certainly refers to lay men and lay women. Members of the community are put into administrative positions only when this can be done prudently and without loss. Frequently prudence and good management will require that a lay person be hired in some administrative capacity, e.g., buyer, assistant administrator, full administrator. In this last case, it would be imperative that a clear understanding of the roles to be played by the administrator and the local religious superior be had. ★

DECISIONS and your COMMUNITY*

THE TASK of a Major Superior is a delicate one. Her decisions are vital, affecting the over-all public relations of her congregation and even the fulfillment of its apostolate. As they affect public relations in general, these decisions may be broken down into four categories: 1. Personnel—your sisters. 2. Your community rule. 3. Expansion needs. 4. Management—or procurement practices in practice.

These are big decisions, but the important thing is to face reality. And perhaps the first of the many aspects of this reality is that, in the discharge of duties, in the regular functioning of office, there is a tendency to overlook the "woman" in us which makes us prone to distrust those who differ with us in viewpoint. You and your respected Councilors are religious, exemplary religious, or you wouldn't be heading your Congregation Yet, as one old Marist Father once told us, "the religious, she is built on the woman!" She retains much of her heart and feminine drives. Recognizing this and so guarding against this, we will avoid placing too much reliance on a "yes, oh yes" concurrence with our proposals. It often happens that the compromise between the first idea and the opposition it evoked, far from being a watered-down solution, is the most workable decision, carrying none of the extremes of either viewpoint. It is just another example of the much recommended "via media"—a road especially recommended for the "spiritually" inclined Superior who would rely on grace to the exclusion of prudence and the opposite, the "practical" mind, which would place more confidence in prudence without due regard to the power of grace. And it is hard to say which type creates the worse problem, public-relations-wise, with its consequent impact on vocations, finances and souls all along the line.

*Delivered at a Conference of High Superiors, Chicago, Ill., and New York, N.Y.

Management Decisions

Management—or procurement decisions are perhaps the least important. Yet, it is here that many allied problems are born. The word procurement brings to some minds the smart way of doing things—the justly claimed advantages and financial savings effected by joint purchasing, for instance. But there is a danger in over-centralization, which, when women are involved, can be construed to imply a lack of trust or regard for ability, which in itself gives rise to problems far more important than the need for economy. And it should not be necessary to state that it is a poor economy and the opposite of efficiency which would operate at the expense of the human personality, saving dollars while losing the valuable flowering of an individual's potential for achievement, your "personnel" insurance for the future.

This does not necessitate haphazard buying, with every supervisor running her department without regard to the over-all good. Rather it is the question

one of taking care that, in establishing a policy, such policy does not exclude the possibilities for individual planning and achievement on a long-range basis. The individual, either sister or layman, when given a reponsibility, must likewise be given a feeling of security and enough scope of action to accomplish that job in all its ramifications. There should be a real, complete delegation of authority, with a marginal allowance for beginning errors in judgment. Nothing can be quite so frustrating as to be burdened with a responsibility without the authority to discharge it with initiative, ingenuity, and growing know-how. Public-relations-wise, nothing sets up negative reactions faster than frustration, on any level.

Keep Policies Flexible

Often it is not the practice that is wrong, but a slavish, rigid, unthinking adherence to an unyielding policy that can create problems. In this as in so many other matters, an old proverb holds good: the best is sometimes the enemy to the good. Your policy, established for all your hospitals, let us say, should be flexible enough to admit of local purchasing in the event a certain commodity is manufactured in an adjacent locality. Otherwise you may find that many hidden costs (the middle man, perhaps, or shipping charges) have been included in your quoted cost. More important, the hospital could be considered by some as lacking in civic interest and your sister administrator branded as being only a figurehead, or inept, with little know-how. Such an idea can boomerang disasterously, should a civic-minded member of the advisory board, for instance, begin to air his dissatisfaction. The very commendable policy of joint purchasing, too rigidly adhered to, while winning your fiscal battle in terms of a few hundred dollars, may yet lose you the war in terms of badly needed thousands, as you will find when you approach your next major decision category—that of expansion needs.

Expansion, Fund Raising Decisions

Here the problem is one of a million or more dollars—and it is here that public relations in its positive aspects can make or break your campaign. If you are wise you will call in an approved team of experts, unless you already have an effective, competent team in your advisory board. Yet it is surprising how quick some administrators are to write off any suggestion of executive-type help from such men, contenting themselves with expecting sizable donations from them, but preferring to run the campaign in all its phases, complete with "selling" letters, without any "meddlesome" men or professional experts "in the way."

It is amazing to observe how we expect the mere donning of a religious habit to produce professional competence, entrusting a project involving millions, perhaps, to a religious who, without the habit and as simple Miss so-and-so, we would not consider for a minor supervisory job. Let's face it, Mothers, grace is grace, yes — but prudence enters here and no amount of religious training and collegiate degrees of itself can produce a natural competence to match the know-how of experts in this field. The very thinking which betrays this lack of facing reality argues also a lack of touch with the worldlings you are trying to reach. In an effort to get donations, for instance, an unwise wording could produce pressuring effect which, even if the donation comes through, might bring also a mounting antagonism and criticism which bodes ill for future coöperation.

Again, looking to suppliers to "kick-in" as the expression goes, especially pressuring them under the veiled inference that one can place one's business elsewhere, is not only a bad public relations factor, but comes dangerously close to skirting the field of morality (c.f. "Veil in Blackmail"—February, 1959 HOSPITAL PROGRESS,) as well as betraying a certain lack of common sense. For, if there is nothing cheap in this world and one gets only what one pays for, in this particular instance you are more liable to pay for what you get. Suppliers are not giving you these donations out of their pockets, though many of their small, hapless salesmen have been so "bled" on the spot. Donations to institutions are figured in as part of the overhead. Eventually prices go up, as well as tempers. Soon you find yourself paying back the donation in the form of spiraling costs and paying back many times over for other hospital's expansion needs which have, even as yours, been added to the overhead—in the final analysis, your overhead!

Perhaps you think that, piously avoiding pressuring and adopting instead the guileless approach, you will strike a sympathetic chord in the heart of the well-to-do prospective donor. Experts can suggest ways and means by which he can donate and absorb some of it through manipulation of taxable funds, but a sister administrator, by naively appealing on the basis that the donation is "tax exempt" only advertises that she doesn't know the first elements of economics. She antagonizes an already-sorely-tried man who is deluged with requests of a similar nature, all blithely assuring him that he will have to give it to the government anyway. The richer the man the higher his tax backet and also the greater the number of appeals flooding in on him. Assuming that he is known to be a generous man, it would be well to consider that he has long since given in excess of the comparatively small figure allowed as "charity-tax exempt." Every dollar he gives once he passes that figure, he has not only given away, but he must pay a tax on it just as if he still had the use of it. If he is in the "52 per cent bracket," let us say, this means that for every thousand dollars he gives to you, he pays, in addition, 500 dollars for the privilege—to the government. The thousand dollars has cost him $1,500. You can see how, after opening the sixth or seventh appeal in the morning's mail, your gentle reminder that his gift would be "tax exempt" has the same effect as waving a red flag in a pasture.

One last word on this subject of raising funds, either as a one-time campaign utilizing approved professional counseling services, or in the matter of continuing counseling as given by the advisory board. Be sure to be open with your advisors, laying the cards on the table and be psychologically open to their expert advice. To deal otherwise is to lose the time for competent men and is as foolish as calling in a doctor, supplying no symptoms and refusing to fill his prescription. The effort to gloss over certain facts will not succeed. Your professional counselors can help to pinpoint any negative public relations problem and suggest how they may be handled. Then and only then can you launch a large-scale, successful fund-raising campaign for your expansion needs.

The third category of your decisions which have far-reaching effects on the

Patterns of Success

. . . that emerge from CCS fund raising campaigns. Although the final pattern may differ somewhat from campaign to campaign, the elements that make up the pattern remain the same. These elements are: "the cause", the prospects, leadership, workers, and know-how.

We can help you to create a pattern of success in your fund raising.

public relations of your congregation and on its apostolate concerns itself with your community rule, either that part formally approved by ecclesiastical authorities, or the aggregations that have accumulated during the years to the point that they now constitute blindly-followed traditions. A definition of "tradition" as it is sometimes interpreted in women's communities might be "the net result of woman's innate tendency to canonize trifles"—that tenacious, unreasoning hanging on to nonessentials, sometimes at the expense of the essential!

Community Rule Adapted to a Busy World

Here is a field where you can safely operate, knowing that even Rome is behind you. For the sake of deeper, more vital spirituality, don't hesitate any longer to weed out empty, meaningless formalisms and time-devouring practices which may have had their place in the days when life was less complex and the minds of your religious less questioning. Not without reason does the Holy Father urge major superiors to let in some fresh air by re-assessing their practices in view of today's apostolate. Many have availed themselves of this to adopt the Little Breviary, the official prayer of the Church, or the full office of the Blessed Virgin, as the basis of community prayer, in place of an assortment of pious devotions added in such number through the years and never discarded, that all of them have to be rushed through in a monotonous breathlessness far removed from the lifting of the soul to God. The hours for these devotions, even the hours of rising, and the time for meditation and Mass, are not so inflexibly to be construed that even the apostolate itself must give away. Perhaps for a hundred years your Congregation has risen at four a.m.—but if today's apostolate has your sisters engaged in youth work, for instance, and the problem of providing recreational places to keep children off the streets during the evening hours has been confided to your care, then in simple justice to the children and the responsibility of this God-given apostolate, your sisters can hardly retire before 11 p.m. Obviously, they cannot continue to arise at the time-honored hour. Without losing one whit of your spiritual life, the horarium can be altered to assure each sister of a fresh start on her day's quest for sanctity.

What has this to do with public relations? Almost everything! Frustration on any level is bad public relations—it is bound to show through. And in hospital work, particularly, faulty community concepts filter quickly through to the public.

Take the matter of the community life of the group assigned to such or such hospital. Does the local superior have a true, realistic approach to what constitutes "community life?" Does she ineffectually but stubbornly persist in trying to have all her sisters doing the same thing at the same time? Real community life means, not everyone, puppet-like, doing the same thing at the same time, but rather all devoted to the same cause, respecting each one's individuality while at the same time breathing the same spirit. The Nun's Story is a tragic example, fictional though it be, of interpreting religious life as "conforming to a mold." It would take heroism to persevere in it, and holiness may not always be the result. Recreational needs and the time of recreation may vary according to differences in age—in type of work—in training. And regardless of what is on the horarium, when duty or charity calls, a sister with a professional responsibility should not be under the overt pressure of fear of failing in religious obedience or punctuality. People don't die on schedule; doctors are unpredictable; emergencies don't observe community time tables. To insist on community acts of public penance in such cases ends up in reducing the penance to an empty ritual which can easily spread to other, more vital points of the Rule.

Visiting Hours Vital PR Time

Your sisters are needed on the wards during the evening visiting hours. If your community prayer or recreation is scheduled for that time, by all means, reschedule them. All the professional training that has gone into producing sister supervisors for pediatrics, O.R., O.B., pharmacy and x-ray, all the years of religious training and experience which now give you a self-operating corps of staff sisters, from the administrator's desk to dietetics and laundry, all count for naught as far as the Christlike implications of the apostolate is concerned (and don't forget public relations) if sisters are nowhere to be seen when worried relatives and friends arrive on the scene. Nor should the matter be considered as a mere fillip to the real apostolate—it is a matter worthy of meditation by every hospital religious that most of Our Lord's miracles were worked, not so much in pity for the sufferer, but in compassion for those who were moved to compassion for the afflicted. Visiting hours should be counted as one of the important parts in the program of over-all handling of each patient's needs—and perhaps at no other time of the day can so much good be effected, for the sick and the well alike.

If, essentially, public relations means the lucid, attractive, cogent presentation of our goods, here is the opportunity for every sister to be a publicity agent of Christ—in her dealings with the visitors, noisy and importunate as some may seem to her. She must radiate a generous, understanding courtesy which has well been called the queen of the social virtues, seeing Christ in each caller. As one lay nurse put it to me, "more people have suffered in the hospital from a lack of friendliness and human warmth than they have from pain." If you are tempted to count the success of your hospital apostolate in terms of so many accredited sisters, an expanding plant, or recognized scientific excellence which assures you that the patients confided to your sisters will have the best, copy this quote from Nesta de Robeck's Padre Pio: "Your mission is to treat the sick, but if you do not bring love to the patient's bedside I cannot believe that medicine will be much help . . . carry God to your patients (and to their visitors); that is worth more than any treatment . . . and I have noticed that very often the soul and body become ill and recover together. Faith and hope will help to heal their spirit; charity will provide them with a roof; science, if it can, will do the rest." It would seem that what the Holy Father would have us change is not so much our Habit as our habits, our way of looking at

Decisions about Personnel Your Sisters

This same attitude carries over into the fourth major field for your decisions as administrators for your congregation, namely that of personnel. We may consider this from the point of view of choice of personnel in staffing your hospitals and in the handling of your sisters, both in the preparation for and the actual discharge of their hospital apostolate.

What was said earlier, under fund-raising, about expecting the mere donning of the religious habit to somehow confer professional competence, applies here. Your hospital administrator must be trained and professionally prepared if she is not to start out on an already stupendous responsibility with a nightmare that sometimes ends in heartbreak. The very fact of feeling insecure and improperly prepared can set up a train of personality problems which will obviously result in a public relation problem. If a sister has the proper character qualifications but is not completely trained for the job, your duty to her and to your public is to have a lay administrator until such a time as sister can be given the proper professional training. And remember that even grace will not work a daily miracle for you if you turn your back on the natural means at hand. Nor should sister be subjected to "force time" type of training, which can and has resulted in a "Ph.D." of another kind—a peaceful and happy death.

Once you have the right sister, now properly qualified, there remains to be sure that you delegate the authority that goes with the job distinctly, with no overlapping. And incidentally, when choosing a sister for an administrative position of any kind, beware of the tendency to "promote" as the only way of showing approval, especially if it means placing the sister in a job she is otherwise unqualified for. Her good work in one field is no assurance of itself that she is meant for administration.

Communities should find new ways to give recognition on a parallel rather than a vertical level. Recognition should achieve encouragement and peace of mind for the recipient and be based on a more healthy understanding of administration as such. This would eliminate much friction, small jealousies, faults against charity and even justice, which unchecked, create negative public relations. It would likewise enlighten and satisfy well-meaning but non-oriented parents, or voluble friends and contacts who cannot understand why "their sister" or "their friend" was passed over, as the expression goes. Sister may understand and be quite content—not so the outsiders whose voiced opinion of this and other acts of religious administration make negative public relations, not only for your congregation, but for religious life in general and vocations in particular.

Though normally a matter of local hospital administration it may be a concern to you, also—the matter of employing the sisters to the best advantage. Tying a sister down to the materialistic duty of collecting hospital bills and fees when a layman could and should be utilized—for the general good and public relations—is a waste of dedicated personnel. Unless the sister has full authority and uses it to dispense from the fee when charity is in question, such employment can actually be a drawback to your whole apostolate. It is a serious traumatic experience for a layman, needy or not, to leave a Catholic hospital with the remembrance and oft-repeated statement that "the only time I even saw a sister was when I had to pay the bill."

Another problem in the best use of your sisters concerns those who reach "that certain age." Retaining a sister on full, active duty, especially if it involves complex responsibilities, when she should be temporarily on rest and relieved of tension, is more than poor policy—it is positive, unthinking cruelty. Naturally, not all who reach this age and condition are "problems"—nor can one set a definite age for such a situation. But your mother's heart should be a guide, handling each one as an individual, saving her self-respect and the discouragement of watching her religious life apparently disintegrating under stress which she cannot control. Given understanding guidance and care, during this period of physical and psychological adjustment, a sister will be able to give another 20 or more years of devoted service. If the objection is made that one would have to close half a hospital to put such a program into effect, the answer lies in management. Too many congregations during the years have taken on, under pressure, I admit, more than they can handle, without making adequate provision for personnel replacement. The remedy may be a drastic one—close the whole hospital, if need be, and concentrate on operating the others remaining in an efficient, Christlike regard for the health of the sisters entrusted to you. This is good personnel insurance for the future—for sisters under strain and stress are the biggest factor in the dearth of vocations from the hospital field. And even the Holy Father thought it necessary to remind major superiors that they were to be more than successful administrators and financiers; you must be, above all, a mother.

If you remember your "spiritual maternity" you will not rush your young sisters too soon into collegiate nursing programs. The SISTER FORMATION program applies here as well as in the field of education. The time in giving spiritual depth in the novitiate and in the years immediately following is not wasted time. Your young sisters can then take on college work with greater maturity, especially if during the post-vow period opportunities have been given, as during vacation time, to do actual hospital work—bedside care and social angles of the apostolate—providing a sense of fulfillment of her basic drive and her original vocation.

Time out for growing in one's spiritual life, opportunities for bringing spiritual and corporal relief to the sick—such a program will save your young sisters and is a real, positive approach for more vocations. Nurses in your schools do not fall in love with the life of a sister supervisor, nor are they drawn to the religious state by the prospect of being a supervisor—they can be that as a laywoman and retain their independence and liberty, while drawing a salary. But they will find inspiration in the sight of a young sister, flushed with the new happiness of her vows and participation in the bringing of Christ to the bedside of the sick.

Likewise, creating within the framework of the hospital apostolate a specific department for revitalizing the hospital apostolate in terms of the charity of Christ will not only offer a stabilizing program for the young professed, a source of vocations from the nursing school, and increased positive impact on your public relations—it can likewise serve as a definite therapy for the temporarily dissastified sister who may be undergoing a period of unrest and temptation that she has made a mistake and belongs in a contemplative Order. Such problems are not rare, as you may know. If it is only a temptation, or better, a singular grace being granted for a greater union with God, such an apostolate within the apostolate—one or two or more sisters in every Catholic hospital charged with specific hours of prayer, for the patients, for the doctors—would serve to satisfy this innate craving of the heart and perhaps go a long way toward curtailing morbidity and "mortality" among active religious. This apostolate could include definite hours of visiting the sick, allaying the fears of distraught relatives—it is a job not just for an aged sister no longer capable of other posts; rather, for one with adaptability to meet specific problems as they arise, one attractive to the public. Certain it is that when the active life is the overflowing of the contemplative life, it is no longer found wanting when compared with the cloister—for contemplative, suffused activity then becomes the Apostolic Life, the perfect synthesis of both.

We said, at the beginning of this paper, that we would treat of the four major fields of decisions which have an end-impact on public relations. We have but sketched them in, leaving the full working out of them to you who know what it is to be saddled with them, often powerless because of other circumstances to make the clean-cut decision an outsider such as myself can so glibly recommend. Speaking entirely from the point of view of public relations, may I humbly submit that there is one field, one attitude, which you can, however, do something about without any complicating restraining circumstances, for it is the field of your own attitude to the apostolate. Here I won't be stating facts, but asking questions which you, in the privacy of your own heart, can ask yourself: Does the spirit of the apostolate animate me in my choice of foundations? Do I consider the hospital field merely as a lucrative one? Do I, without real need, make all my sisters supervisors, as a means of bringing greater income into the congregation, ruling out any possibility of a dedicated lay management in at least some departments? Do I use and consider the apostolate open to my congregation primarily as a means to attract more support, more vocations, regarding other congregations as rivals? Have I ever thought of the fact that God has never given any congregation the mandate merely to perpetuate itself—that it is possible to project into one's community zeal what one would be ashamed to do as an individual? Have I the faith that looks upon human effort as only one part of the job, remembering that human expediency alone can only yield human results, whereas if we work for the whole, God takes care of the parts?

Do I develop in my sisters that basic approach to sanity as well as sanctity—cultivating in them honesty: with God, with themselves, with their neighbors and fellow workers; humility: not striving for preference, authority, prestige, either for themselves or

A Check List for*

Nursing Service Policy Manuals

by SISTER JEAN MARIE BRAUN, S.C.S.C.

NURSING SERVICE IS THE HEART of a hospital. The personnel in this department have more direct and daily contact with patients than does any other group. The patients expect to find personnel ready to serve no matter what the illness, the age, the sex, the race, seeking help. The hospital, with its staff, is prepared to give service all hours of the day and night. This staff consists of many people working together to maintain established standards of professional performance, which have been developed to help all reach the goal of good patient care.

Many different individuals contribute to the attainment of the pre-determined goal; therefore there must be sound policies to guide them in this accomplishment. Decisions and actions should be consistent with the objectives of the hospital and be further explained and translated into practical everyday guides. Written policies fulfill this need by actually outlining a course of action to be taken, but at the same time they leave room for individual judgment and extenuating circumstances. These policies will reiterate the fundamental principles and objectives in which the reason why is found. Nursing service policies, as all other hospital policies, will reflect the objectives of the hospital and contribute to better patient care.

*Abstracted from an essay presented to St. Louis University in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a Master's Degree in Hospital Administration.

PURPOSE AND APPROACH

The purpose of this essay is to set forth a suggested list of important departmental and inter-departmental policies to be included in a nursing service policy manual. These will be based on the general policies of the hospital. The foundation must be laid before the framework can become a reality. Each department and this includes nursing service, will establish policies which pertain to its particular functions and duties, being careful never to lose sight of the over-all objectives. The compiled check lists have been organized as a guide in developing the policies necessary for the different types of nursing units. They do not propose to include every possible policy because each hospital must consider its own needs.

Justification

It is necessary to set up standards and regulations in any type of an organization. One of the first things people do to ensure good functioning and perpetuation of an organization is to establish bylaws. Nursing service in a hospital is part of an already established organization which has bylaws and policies which will guide the entire institution. It is not proper for a department within a hospital to have separate bylaws.

The nursing service enjoys the identical status given other departments. Instead of bylaws, a set of policies with necessary regulations should be developed and reduced to writing in the form of a manual. This would, in effect, serve the same

purpose as bylaws since it would clearly delineate responsibilities and prescribe the action to be taken under a given set of circumstances. In addition it would outline the relationships that exist between the various departments that make up any hospital organization.[1]

In developing policies the questions by whom and what will be frequently asked, as indicated in the check lists, to clarify the purpose mentioned above; namely, that of delineating responsibilities and prescribing the action to be taken. The organizational chart will indicate the direct relationships within nursing service as well as the indirect relationships with other departments. But the chart is only the skeleton, and one of the principles of sound organization is that every organizational chart should be supplemented by a manual to further explain the line and staff relationships. The better people understand the jobs of those on either side of them in the work flow and how each relates to patient care, the better they will be able to fit their activities into an efficient pattern.[2]

Because nursing service has more direct contact with the patients and forms a crossroad where all departmental administrative practices intersect and converge, it often receives the brunt of complaints. It appears as if all misunderstanding comes from the center of the crossroad. This can be remedied by mutual respect, coöperative planning and well-written policies. The frequent turnover of nursing service personnel in itself requires written policies for the maintenance of consistent practices for safeguarding patients and for efficiency and economy of operations.

There are many practices in nursing that have a legal implication. The hospital can be safeguarded by having these practices in writing with the responsibility definitely assigned. One hospital was released from a suit of liability because it could show the written policies it was following and had, in addition, sufficient proof that these policies were known and understood and were used as a guide by the nursing service personnel.

Definition of Terms

A check list is an enumeration of topics to be used as a guide in the formulation of a plan. It is an outline of important points to be considered. Nurses often use check lists as helpful devices to avoid omissions and to save time. When orienting new employes it is a way of making sure that all the areas of responsibility have been covered. In making out requisitions for supplies and equipment, one can quickly see what is needed by referring to a check list. As used in this paper the suggested check lists are intended as a guide in developing nursing service policies. Though they can scarcely be all-inclusive, they are an indication of the type of material that should be included in a policy manual.

Nursing service is a professional department, functioning as a general service unit of the hospital, which provides physical, mental and spiritual nursing care to patients assigned to the various clinical units of the hospital in accordance with policies and procedures prescribed by the governing board, the hospital administrator and responsible physicians. It utilizes professional and nonprofessional personnel in rendering safe, adequate and economical service and contributes to the improvement of patient care.[3] In order to give good patient care, many functions must be carried on away from the bedside. They are referred to as administrative functions and include: defining objectives and policies, planning, organizing, directing, coördinating, staffing, reporting, arranging physical facilities and budgeting. These are the functions which the director of nursing service performs in fulfilling her responsibility of providing and improving patient care needed to achieve the objectives of the institution. Many of the duties will be delegated in whole or part to other nursing service personnel. Emphasis will be placed on nursing care, which is the actual contact with the patient, adapting prescribed therapy and preventive treatment to the needs of the individual.

A nursing service policy manual will correlate all the functions of nursing service by specifying the course of action to be taken in a particular situation. It can be differentiated from a practice manual, which tells step by step how to carry out a definite nursing procedure, or from rules and regulations, which are rigid laws that do not allow for flexibility and individual judgment. Policies are also distinguished from directives, which are specific orders given out as an occasion arises. Many regulations and directives form the bases for policies. Other organizational material may be included in the nursing service manual or ward manual as it is sometimes called. As recommended by a Conference on Nursing Service this manual might include: (1) organization of the nursing service department, (2) objectives, (3) functions, (4) policies, (5) records and reports, (6) physical arrangements, (7) personnel, (8) interdepartmental relationships and other related topics. . . . A similar manual should be prepared for each clinical unit which would include those items pertinent to that area.[4]

A clinical unit is one area devoted to a particular type of nursing, such as medical, surgical or obstetrical. A nursing unit may be only part of a clinical unit and includes that area which is managed by one head nurse. A section is a nursing area which is managed by a supervisor. It is made up of several nursing units and may coincide with a clinical unit. Each nursing unit should have a nursing service policy manual which contains the policies of its clinical specialty plus general policies as needed.

A manual is defined as a small book. The size will depend on how many different types of policies and practices are included in it. In the appendix a list of the different kinds of hospital manuals, who they concern and their content is given. They may be combined under one cover or bound individually in strong loose-leaf notebooks to facilitate ready reference and revision.

Method of Approach

The review of the literature—Periodicals and other publications were reviewed to determine what had been written about nursing service policy manuals. Manuals on the organization of nursing service, proceedings from nursing service workshops and books on nursing service stress the need for policies and the necessity of group participation in developing them. They give broad topics to be included in the manual but not specific information. In the periodicals there have been some attempts to differentiate between various types of policies in nursing service. In one article the different types of policies are listed and specific material to be included in a ward policy manual is given.[5] Another lists policies for evening and night administrative practices that could be used by the hospital administrator, director of nursing service and the evening and night supervisors.[6] A hosptial administrative manual lists under the nursing service section 60 general administrative interdepartmental responsibilities. It names the personnel responsible for each task and follows through on any procedure of a department that affects nursing service.[7] Textbooks used in hospital administration give some of the policies to be included in a manual, though they appear under a variety of headings.

Investigation of existing nursing service policy manuals—The most helpful material was obtained from the general policy and ward manuals of DePaul Hospital, St. Louis, and in a conference with Sister Elise, director of nursing service of that hospital. Its general policy manual is kept in all departments and nursing units. The ward manual contains interdepartmental and spiritual care policies that apply to all nursing units. Other topics included are: objectives of the particular section, personnel and their functions, internal policies (those differing from or over and above the general ones), orientation to the unit, inventory, house staff rules and regulations, a list of all the doctors with their telephone numbers and type of service, the disaster and evacuation plan and new procedures. An all-inclusive manual such as this facilitates reference, saves time and leaves no room for doubt. In many other hospitals definite personnel policies have been established and nursing procedures have been written, but general hospital policies, interdepartmental and nursing service administrative policies have shown less progress.

Problem

There is more and more emphasis on service as exemplified in actual patient care. It is necessary, therefore, to develop policies which will assure uniformity of action so that each time a decision is made or a task performed it follows a meaningful pattern. The problem involved gleaning from the existing manuals and publications a worthwhile and useful check list for the development of policies applicable to nursing service.

Policies

Much thought must be given to policies before they become a reality. Therefore, consideration must be given to the need, the formulation, the advantages, the enforcement and the revision of policies.

Need

A policy is a guide to action based on fundamental principles. The word policy has taken on many meanings such as strategy, tactics, platform, plank or insurance contract. But they all seem to denote a sense of security, which is one of the primary needs of human beings. People like to know what they should be doing and why they are doing it. No matter how few employes there are in any organization or how low the census in a hospital, no one person can be on hand to make all the decisions. There is a need for formulating and communicating authoritative decisions to whomever they may concern at the time they are concerned. This communication can be very much enhanced if sound policies have been established at a time when it was possible to think them through and weight their pros and cons. In a hospital it is especially important that policies be written because the nursing personnel are not dealing with inanimate things but with human beings whose life and health are at stake. The policy must not be used as a shield to hide feelings or as a weapon to give vent to prejudices. Rather, it should be a sign of loyalty. The objectives of an organization are given expression in policies which give meaning to its existence by supplying the general practices to be followed in the attainment of the goal. The delegate uses them as a guide in carrying out duties and as a means of security in knowing that he is doing the correct thing.

Formulation

Knowledge helps to eliminate any friction that may develop in the relationships between people. But knowing policy entails more than quoting from a manual or a directive. One must also be able to explain the reasons why. This makes it easier to accept and carry out an action. In order to have an understanding of the reason why, the people who carry out the policies must have an active part in the formulation of them. This can be accomplished by appointing a committee which will act as "a communication medium, a sounding board, an advisory council, and an in-service training potential."[1]

The policy committee will represent the other personnel and reflect their thinking. It will explore and evaluate patient needs and draw up a list of all pertinent facts to be included in the manual. The facts will then have to be assessed and interpreted and conclusions reached which are based on relevant data and not on mere assumptions. The policy committee is only advisory. The director of nursing service, and the hospital administrator when necessary, make the decision. By group participation, a mutual respect and a sharing of responsibilities will be accomplished.

Two questions that should frequently be asked during the formulation of policies are: "(1) What is the standard or principle which governs the problem and policy concerned; and (2) will the policy selected merely look good on paper or will it help in effective control, prevention and correction of the problem?"[2] In addition, consideration should also be given to these questions: (1) Is it practical and capable of achievement? Are there any insurmountable obstacles? (2) Is it relevant? Can the proposed goal be accomplished? (3) Is it consistent? Does it give rise to a new policy or is is a change in an existing policy? (4) Is it clear and precise? Is there sufficient detail for understanding the ideas and concepts as well as sufficient scope to allow for practical application?[3]

The more realistic the policy is, the greater will be the success of the action undertaken. Many advantages result when ample time and thought have been given to the formulation.

Advantages

The advantages of having written policies parallel the advantages of a good organizational structure. They supply the standards which assist in planning and attaining the desired goals and, at the same time, meet all legal requirements. The people who apply them have the opportunity to think for themselves but not by themselves. The users have more confidence in making decisions and are able to reduce to a minimum doubts, anxieties and distrusts. "Policies encourage the development of sound judgment and the exercise of authority in keeping with prescribed limits."[4] For the employe they minimize frustration, promote teamwork and encourage individual development. For the administrator they minimize the overlapping of activity and responsibility; point out omissions of necessary functions; eliminate waste of time, material and personnel and suggest better ways of accomplishing the work. For the hospital they shorten lines of communication, eliminate friction and reduce the number of mistakes by placing decision-making nearer to the problem.[5]

Enforcement

When the policy itself is written, the main goal has been achieved because everyone has become more familiar with the problems that exist. Each realizes his part in expediting smooth functioning of the whole organization. As in formulation, so it is in fulfillment, understanding is a major step. This understanding can only be had if the policies are properly interpreted by the supervisor to all concerned. The whole purpose will be defeated if constant changes are made by simple verbal instructions. Consistency is the keyword in reasons, formulation and execution.[6] Each employe should consider it his personal responsibility to carry out all the policies to the best of his ability. If he is unable to follow them he should report it to his immediate supervisor and give the reason why.

changing times. This cannot be done without the forethought and meaning consistent with the basic principles which characterized their formulation.[7] There must be a periodic appraisal of them followed by a revision if indicated. This can be accomplished in the same manner as the actual formulation of the policies. The meeting of the minds that occurred between administration and the employes will reap fruit in a harmonious relationship which will make further progress less difficult. Provision should be made for the review and revision of policy manuals no less than once a year. Review and revision become a continuous thing if policies are kept current.

Nursing Service Policies

The following are check lists of nursing service administrative policies that would ordinarily be needed in the average short-term hospital. Background factors influencing policy-making are:

"1. The objectives of the hospital based upon those of the religious institute which operate the hospital.

"2. The availability of professional nurses and other allied nursing and non-nursing personnel.

"3. The quality of medical care practiced in the community.

"4. The number and type of physicians on the medical staff as well as their qualifications and training.

"5. Presence or absence of a medical educational program in the hospital.

"6. The presence or absence of a school of nursing.

"7. Social and economic demands of the community in which the hospital is located.

"8. The existing standards of patient care in the community.

"9. Budgetary considerations."[1]

Despite the many factors mentioned above, the topics under consideration in these check lists should be consistent with existing situations in hospitals. The general policies, the spiritual care policies and the interdepartmental policies may apply to all the nursing units and any exceptions or additions to these should be developed for each particular unit in a given situation. Only general terms are used and leading questions are asked to stimulate thinking about the application of each policy in different situations. The correct answers to these questions are not always given as they will depend on the factors stated above, plus city and state regulations.

THE CHECK LIST

GENERAL NURSING SERVICE

General nursing service policies will be pertinent to all nursing units and may be combined with the general hospital policies, thus applying to all departments of the hospital. Each nursing unit will have some particular situations that will have to be handled individually. These will be listed separately under the unit concerned. All policies should be flexible enough to meet the current needs of the patients. A constant evaluation of the care being given shall be carried on to ensure continual improvement.

Major surgery in Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, being performed with illumination from windows and one emergency light.

Reliable safeguard for power blackouts

The 13-hour power failure in New York's Manhattan last summer caused hazards, inconvenience and discomfort in hospitals without stand-by power. Surgery was delayed or performed without proper lighting; sterilizers and elevators were out of commission; many patients had to be transferred—others were served by candlelight.

Kohler electric plants are reliable, easy to install for emergency power vital to patients' care. They are thoroughly engineered packaged units with all features necessary for quick starting, quiet unattended operation, minimum maintenance. Sizes to 100 KW, gasoline and diesel. OPERATION MAINTENANCE

...in more than 300 major hospitals throughout the United States depends on

BAKER SCAFFOLDS

Hospital maintenance must be quick and efficient. More and more hospitals depend on Baker Scaffolds for all off-the-floor maintenance.
Baker Scaffolds are designed for quick and easy set-up with maximum safety. One man can assemble the 5-part unit in 90 seconds. There are no restricting "X" braces to interfere with maneuverability. Baker Scaffolds can be moved over and around furniture and equipment with ease. Work platforms may be made wider, longer or higher with additional Baker Scaffold units and auxiliary assemblies. A safe working level is maintained on stairs and sloping floors even when units are stacked for additional height. Platforms are adjustable in 3" increments and to a height of 5 feet 8 inches plus casters on a single Baker unit. Higher levels may be reached by vertical stacking of additional units—all without bolts or any other loose parts.
Baker Scaffolds are ideally suited for washing or painting walls, reaching light fixtures or any general off-the-floor maintenance—including use on stairways. Baker Scaffolds require minimum storage space—little more than an ordinary stepladder.
Contact your local distributor for additional time and money saving features of the Baker Scaffold.

■ ALWAYS AVAILABLE
—No more cutting, sewing and storing muslin wrappers. Do away with laundering, drying, folding and mending. Save time, save space.

■ EASY TO USE
—The only paper designed to handle like cloth—no change in technique required. Edges drape when unfolded to provide sterile field.

■ RE-USABLE WITH SAFETY
—Hospitals report 8 to 10 uses out of Sterilwrap sheets, as many as 12 to 24 from glove envelopes and cases. 100% sterility assured for much longer periods than with other wraps.

STERILWRAPS
FOR WRAPPING SUPPLIES TO BE AUTOCLAVED

The modern way to wrap supplies for autoclaving. Not just another ordinary commercial paper, Meinecke Sterilwraps are formulated under rigid laboratory control specifically for hospital sterilizing needs. Strong, easy to handle, won't crack or stiffen—and the initial cost is the complete cost!

endeavor to make good use of the professional and technical services which render help to the patient. This requires a clear understanding of how these services can be carried out smoothly to the betterment of all concerned. Coördination of all their activities in obtaining the same final goal may be reached by the use of written policies.

Spiritual Care

The care of the spiritual life of the patient, according to the provisions of canon law belongs to the Bishop of the diocese or to whomever he may delegate it, usually the chaplain or the pastor. The nurse on the other hand has a duty in charity to aid the patients in every way possible in fulfilling their spiritual obligations. She will exercise her influence in proportion to the patient's needs, the urgency of the patient's condition and the opportunities which are afforded her for making herself a vehicle of grace to the patient.[2] Some of the spiritual responsibilities to the patient have been outlined by Father FitzGibbon.[3]

Pediatrics

Children are the first to notice when one nurse does things different from another. "This is the way it was done yesterday," is often heard. There are added precautions to be taken, homesickness to be combated and education and recreation to be supplied. How all these needs will be met must be determined in advance.

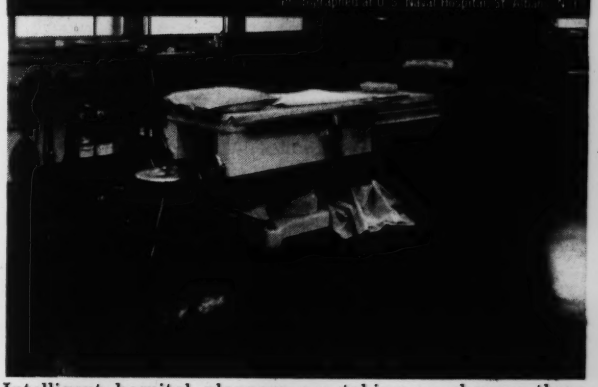
OPERATION SAFETY

CONDUCTILE FLOORING MINIMIZES EXPLOSION DANGER IN HOSPITAL OPERATING ROOMS



Intelligent hospital planners are taking no chances these days with electrostatic discharge. Realizing that the mere act of walking could result in the ignition of flammable gases, they install VPI's solid vinyl CONDUCTILE, a specialty engineered flooring that dissipates electrostatic charges from personnel and equipment. Quality-controlled CONDUCTILE is easy to maintain, quiet and comfortable underfoot, tough and long lasting. A product of VINYL PLASTICS, INC., makers of ECONOLAST, VINYLAST, TERRALAST and ULTRALAST — prestige vinyl flooring for institutional and residential use. WRITE FOR FREE SAMPLES AND LITERATURE.

OBSTETRICS

There have been many changes in obstetrical nursing in the past few years. Most births take place in hospitals. The term birth room instead of delivery room, predelivery room instead of labor room are being used. "Rooming-in" and "child birth without fear" are often heard. Law suits on misidentifictaion or blindness in infants are being widely publicized. We must constantly evaluate existing practices in view of more accepted ones. After each one has proven its worth it must then be defined and policies concerning it be developed and written.

Operating Room

The operating room is a very specialized division requiring policies that apply to it alone. The destiny of the patients is very realistic to all concerned. This includes the relatives as well as the personnel serving the patient. The seriousness of the procedures being performed causes much tension which must be kept at a minimum whenever possible. Well written meaningful policies will aid smooth functioning in this unit.

WHY HOSPITALS FINANCE THROUGH DEMPSEY-TEGELER

Dempsey-Tegeler has had more than a quarter century of experience in solving financial problems for hospitals and other institutions. A recognized leader in this field, our company has provided hundreds of millions of dollars to institutions through the sale of bonds. Our recommendation comes from countless satisfied customers, including religious orders and dioceses, throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Institutional bonds have great flexibility. You can retire them as early as you wish without penalty. And you can take advantage of any lower interest rate—at any time—that would be beneficial to you.

Perhaps you are planning new buildings, expansion of present facilities, or modernization. If so, we believe it will be greatly to your advantage to borrow through Dempsey-Tegeler. If financial advice will be helpful to you, one of our experienced representatives will call on you without obligation. Just write us at the address below.

RECOVERY ROOM

The increased use of physical aids and new medications as well as the shortage of nurses warrants the establishment of a unit for specialized care following surgery. The management of this unit requires the intelligent coöperation of many departments. This can be accomplished by having written policies which are adhered to and understood by all. Adequate care will then be provided for these patients at all times but especially in emergency situations. The size of the recovery room and the available staff will qualify the policies in each hospital.

Emergency Room

The emergency room must be ready twenty-four hours a day to adequately take care of any person that comes through its doors. Because of the great urgency of many situations and the emotional strain of the patient and relatives, it is important that the nurse remain calm. If she has at her fingertips definite policies upon which she may act, every one will feel more secure. Though the policies leave room for an original thought, personal judgment, and unthought of situations, they form a solid basis for making decisions and provide legal safeguards. The nurse will not have the full burden of making an independent choice.

Are you charging enough to depreciation?

Obsolescence is becoming a more and more important factor on the hospital cost sheet, thanks to the continuing improvements in the efficiency of equipment. In many cases, prior depreciation methods do not recognize this trend.

Hospitals that have asked The American Appraisal Company for a study of the remaining lives of their assets are able to present the trustees a more accurate report of operating costs.

The American Appraisal Company offers your hospital years of specialized experience. Every American Appraisal report is backed by detailed facts that compel acceptance. These facts are always available. Write for more information.

Boy?

■ HOW DO YOU PREDICT the sex of an unborn baby?

Modern science seems to be on the verge of perfecting a reliable method involving a cytological analysis of the amniotic fluid of the pregnant woman. But for 4,000 years, scientists and pseudo-scientists have engaged in one of the most frustrating guessing games in the history of man.

"The superstitions relating to the prediction of fetal sex illustrate in fascinating manner the credulity and skepticism of mankind, its bondage to tradition and its flight of rationalization and imagination," according to Dr. Thomas R. Forbes, associate professor of anatomy and assistant dean of the Yale University School of Medicine.

Dr. Forbes reviews mankind's attempts to predict the sex of the unborn in an article published recently in the Proceedings of the American Philosophical Society.

The oldest method on record goes back 4,000 years to the Egyptians and the writings on an ancient papyrus suggest that a mixture of dates and sand be placed in two flasks. To one flask was added barley or spelt; to the other wheat. The grains had previously been soaked in the urine of the pregnant woman. If the wheat sprouted first, a son would be born; if barley, a girl.

Many centuries later Galen recommended the same test as did others who followed. But in 1933, a German pharmacologist repeated the test with 100 women. With 23, the germination rate of the two grains was the same, with the remainder, 19 diagnoses were wrong and 58 were correct. Thus the results were only slightly better than the 50-50 chance one would have with pure guesswork so the old Egyptians went through a lot of trouble for nothing.

Hippocrates, the "father of medicine," got into the guessing game by describing both tests and physical signs for determining fetal sex. He believed that boys develop on the right side of the uterus and girls on the left. Therefore, he pointed out, if the fetus were a boy, the right eye of the mother would be brighter and clearer and her right breast larger. If a girl, the opposite side would show the signs.

The belief that the male baby would be brighter or stronger or more active during pregnancy dominated the beliefs of people down through the ages and even today there is the saying that an active fetus in the pregnant woman means a boy. Pliny the Elder contended that a woman carrying a female baby moves with difficulty, her legs are swollen and the movements of the fetus not felt until the 90th day.

Ambroise Pare championed the male cause even with a theological note. "The male infant is more excellent and perfect than the female, maintaining the authority and pre-eminence which God gave him, appointing him as chief and lord over the female."

But there have been skeptics. The Frenchman, Joubert, in the 16th century, agreed with Hippocrates that the male fetus means more activity and bright coloring, but pointed out sensibly that as the female uterus has only one chamber and located on the midline, the developing infant cannot lie either on the left or right but in the middle.

Dr. Forbes points out that "sometimes the credulous depended on crude tests, unscientific predecessors of modern laboratory procedures. A 16th century European method was to mix pulverized birthwort root with honey and apply it on a pessary of wool. If the woman's saliva became sweet, she could expect a son; if bitter, a daughter."

The "saliva test" was used in a different form by Paulini in Frankfurt during the early 1700's. He simply examined the pregnant woman's saliva: if yellow or red and viscous, it meant a boy; if white and watery, a girl.

Galen also suggested that parsley be placed on the woman's head without her knowledge; if thereafter she first spoke to a male, it meant she would have a son.

Probably the best advice on predicting sex was given by Francois Mauriceau, the shrewd 17th century obstetrician. He suggested to midwives that when parents ask for predictions on the sex of the unborn baby, the midwife should predict just the opposite of what was wanted by the parents. "For if by chance the midwife predicted correctly, as could happen, the parents will say that she is a clever woman, . . . and if it happens otherwise (as it will one time in two), the wife and husband, having what they desire, will take little heed, as one always accepts cheerfully the good that comes unexpectedly." ★ for their congregations, but teaching them to recognize and live with their limitations even as no effort is spared to develop full potentialities; humor: not adopting a "fine lady" mentality who can never afford to fail, but the ability to see one's self as one is and to laugh at one's pettiness cropping out? (In this connection a very tranquilizing and encouraging motto might be: "God must have a special clause of mercy for those who aspire to alpine climbing, and fall instead into ruts.")

Do I lead my sisters to think of the apostolate in terms of daily, realistic striving for sanctity? Or do I, through my own pressures of office, settle too easily for credits, efficiency, a sense of a good job well done because of the apparent blessings of thriving foundations, billion-dollar projects and civic acclaim?

If you can give the right answers to the above, dear Mother and it goes without saying that we assume you can; if you and your congregation are in the hospital apostolate simply and foremost to truly bring Christ to souls and souls to Christ—in your sisters, in your patients, in your medical staff, in all your lay associates, in the salesman, the reporter, the taxi-driver, in fact, in every soul God sends your way—then you have understood not only your personal vocation and the apostolate of your Congregation, but you will be well on your way to achieving what is meant by Catholic public relations. Archbishop Carboni, Apostolic Delegate in Australia, has this to say:

"All too often we are content to offer prayers and give good example in the hope that through our conduct men will be led to find the God behind it. Yet more than prayers and good example is needed. We have a Message to tell our fellows. We have a Love to make known . . . . let us think of public relations in our own individual role . . . each of us must be a publicity agent of Christ . . . when a competent public relations program has been united to a genuinely deep religious spirit, there has been noticed an increase in vocational recruitment. For the layman is attracted to the religious community which lives in the world of the present. For he knows that everything in the world, in the order of nature as well as of grace, comes from God, belongs to God, and is sacred because of its divine origin . . . admittedly there must be a withdrawal from all that is evil within the world, but only in order that one might act more effectively in promoting its genuine good . . . when the religious lives in the present, is alive to the Mystery and Sacredness of God as they shine through the things of creation, shows a practical as well as a theoretical concern for the salvation of his fellows, and through a good public relations program makes his fellow Christians aware of his ideals and endeavors, then certainly vocations to the institute increase."

The first part of the quote defines your part in public relations; the second part, the reward. In all of the vital decisions that you must make you can be sure of one thing, that in good public relations there is strength and joy which somehow characterizes the maternity of Mary. You, as other Marys, hold in your hands the promise of the Catholic hospital apostolate. In all your problems may She ever be your model, your strength, your joy! The decisions . . the responsibilities are yours—just put your hand in God's and keep doing! ★
